LIBRARY OF LIVES AND LETTERS

The Library of Lives and Letters is a new Gale series of reissued biographical works, now including twenty-four individual biographies of renowned men and women of letters—twelve American and twelve British.

The selection of titles is based on work by distinguished American and British bibliographers whose first consideration in evaluating a work is whether (even though out of print for many years) it is an important biographical source for students, historians, researchers, authors, and general readers. Other criteria include the need for material on the subject and the present-day appeal of the work under consideration. A descriptive illustrated brochure will be sent upon request.

The Stuart Editions

J. MAX PATRICK, General Editor

These handsome, clothbound editions of seventeenth-century literature are based upon a fresh examination of the best manuscript and printed sources and each contains an introductory essay, factual glosses, explanatory notes, listings of substantive variants, and a selected bibliography. The texts are newly edited by distinguished American and Canadian scholars, and meet the highest standards of scholarship and readability. With a few special exceptions, the original spelling is maintained. The volumes are uniform in size (6 × 9) and design and are printed in large type with generous margins.

JUST PUBLISHED

The Complete Poetry of John Donne

EDITED BY JOHN SHAWCROSS 521 pages $7.50

This is the first comprehensive edition of Donne's poetry since Grierson's standard edition of 1912. It is a balanced, sensible text based upon manuscripts not previously used, and it corrects many of Grierson's alterations without resort to the extreme readings of other recent editors.

The Prose of John Milton

EDITED BY J. MAX PATRICK 675 pages $7.50

Noted Milton scholars have edited the selections in this volume, which includes all the major prose works and summaries with lengthy quotations from the minor tracts. It offers new translations of the Latin works, introductions, and notes.

The Prose of Sir Thomas Browne

EDITED BY NORMAN ENDICOTT 646 pages $7.50

Here are new editions of the major texts as well as a number of minor writings of the celebrated seventeenth-century philosopher, including Religio Medici, excerpts from other major works, and a number of shorter pieces not available elsewhere.
