CALVIN

A BIOGRAPHY

BERNARD COTTRET

“That this is a history of John Calvin’s hope as much as a biography of him helps account for the careful attention to political developments in Switzerland and France, making it also a history of ideas that pivots on the sixteenth century’s religious controversies. . . . We meet Calvin in the institutions he shaped and not as a figure with whom we might enjoy a drink at the corner bar. We see him as a behind-the-scenes architect of an edifice that casts a shadow across the more than four centuries that separate us from the man.”

— Booklist

Praise for the original, French edition:

“A tour de force. . . . Cottret has avoided the trap of painting a character who would have had, from the beginning, all of the traits of his last years, and endeavors to show how Calvin became Calvin. . . . Brilliant.”

— Le Monde

“This excellent book regards the French Reformer with new eyes. . . . Cottret mixes seriousness and welcome humor. For the public interested in a history of Protestantism, this book is full of reflections of the spirit of the Reformation.”

— Les Livres du Mois

Basil Manly and Baptist Life in the Old South

A. James Fuller

“A marvelous biography of one of the leading shapers of religious life in the Old South. Gracefully written and well researched, this book is an engaging portrayal of Basil Manly, the indefatigable preacher-politician and educator who lived through the death throes of one world and the birth pangs of another.”—Timothy George, Dean, Beeson Divinity School of Samford University
