In the article by Barratt and Thomas (2018), the second and third references were incorrectly listed in the Reference List. The Publishers would like to apologise for this mistake. The references should, in order, read:

In the second paragraph of the first page, Barratt, 2016 is wrongly listed. The references should read:

“(Brykczynski, 1989; Johnson, 1993; Kleiman, 2004; Barratt, 2005; Defibaugh, 2014a; 2014b).”

The publishers would like to apologise for a further error. In the article, Julian Barratt’s job title was incorrectly noted as Head of Community Nursing and Workforce Development. In fact, he is the Head of Community Nursing.
