History

Books and Journals from Cambridge University Press

History is the largest single subject area for the Press. It is a programme with both depth and breadth, ranging in subject matter from late antiquity to the present day, international in scope and embracing new approaches.

Our publishing includes major reference series, textbooks and monographs, as well as a collection of distinguished journals affiliated to the world’s leading scholarly societies.

Together, they reflect the diversity of the discipline and offer an unmatched resource for today’s historians.

For further details visit: cambridge.org/core-history
INSTRUCTIONS FOR CONTRIBUTORS

Editorial policy
Financial History Review, published by Cambridge University Press on behalf of the European Association for Banking and Financial History e.V., is an international journal which publishes high-quality research on banking, finance, insurance and commercial history, with a special emphasis on the history of banks and other financial institutions, and related topics such as political and economic history, law, institutions, local and regional history. The Review actively seeks to expand its approach to publishing research findings within the growing historical disciplines. Articles may address banking, financial and monetary history from different perspectives, including theoretical and empirical approaches, and the interrelationships between history, finance, policy, and culture. The Review particularly encourages submissions from young scholars.

Articles should normally be of 7,000 words including footnotes, tables and any graphs or other illustrative material (25 graph occupying as a page is deemed equivalent to 1,000 words).

The journal is published in English and contributions should be submitted in that language. Authors whose native language is other than English are encouraged to submit their manuscript in a professionally translated version if they wish to submit.

Submissions
Manuscripts may be submitted through the online submission facility available on the Review’s web page: http://journals.cambridge.org/FHR.

Authors are required to upload:

1. The manuscript itself (in PDF format). Any supplementary information, and all contents of the corresponding author’s financial disclosure(s) (if applicable), should be included in the manuscript.

2. A blinded copy of the manuscript. The cover page of the document should include the paper’s title, a short abstract (max. 200 words), a short list of keywords, and the titles and dates of three potential referees (with the corresponding email addresses). All the information should be inserted in bibliographic reference (appendix) and a different single document in PDF for Table and Figures.

Submission of a paper would be taken under consideration only if it is unpublished (or in a language other than English) and is not being considered for publication elsewhere. Upon acceptance of a paper, the author will be asked to assign copyright (on certain condition) to the European Association for Banking and Financial History e.V.

Contributors are responsible for obtaining permission to reproduce any material in which they do not own copyright, to be used both in print and electronic forms, and for ensuring that all appropriate acknowledgments are included in their manuscripts.

Preparation of manuscripts
1. Manuscripts should be typed double-spaced throughout on A4 or US letter size paper, with margins of at least 2.5 cm (1”). With margins should be left on all sides.
2. Pages should be numbered consecutively, beginning with the title page, the page number being placed, ideally, at the top right-hand corner of the page.
3. Footnotes should be typed, double-spaced consecutively and be grouped together at the end of the manuscript. Footnotes will appear in the journal at the bottom of each printed page. Footnotes should only be used in connection with matters of source citation. Substantive footnotes, involving commentary or argument, should be avoided, such material being more properly contained within the body of the text. If an elaborate commentary on source is required, and cannot be incorporated within the body of the article, it should form an appendix to the article (to be included in the total word count).
4. Articles may be appropriate, be divided into subsections designated by Roman numerals, and be printed on the page. Sub-headings within an article should be avoided.
5. If the paper includes extensive references to primary sources such as archives, statistics, periodicals, yearbook and documentary sources, these should be typed, numbered consecutively and be grouped together at the end of the manuscript. Please number tables, maps, figures consecutively with Arabic numerals, and use that reference within the text, e.g., Table 1, Figure 3. Their appropriate position in the body of the text should be indicated in the text (e.g., please place Table 1 here).
6. Footnotes should follow the style of the citations. In editing, and after commenting, even if entirely, the Editor retains the right to retain a contribution or accept it for publication solely on the grounds that it does not follow the conventions.

Conventions
1. Spelling: British spelling is preferred, using -ise in words with alternative -ize (e.g., American, Canadian, Australian, and CO). However, American spelling will be accepted.
2. Foreign words or phrases in English sentences should be underlined (for italics), except for proper names, as proper nouns are generally not italicised.
3. Quotations: Follow the punctuation, capitalisation and spelling of the original source. Within the body of the text, a quotation should begin and end, with single quotation marks, with double quotation marks only used for quotations within quotations. Quotations of more than seven lines should be indented by 1 cm, and then be set off from the main body of text. The indent should be at the left margin, using a spacing block of text_width reco

4. Date: Use as in December 1966, but in the 1960s or in the 1960s, and not in the 1960’s.
5. Ellipsis: Whether or not, or at the end of a sentence should be indicated by three spaced full stops.

6. References: If the bibliographic information should appear at the end of the text, the list of references, by the author, in capital or lower-case (in alphabetical order, if more than one text by the same author is cited in a particular year, then the years should be distinguished by a letter, e.g., (Berlin, 1990) and (Berlin, 1991). References are limited to the works cited in the manuscript. Please adopt the following style:

8. Their appropriate position in the body of the text should be indicated in the text (e.g., please place Table 1 here).

9. Contributors should follow the style of the citations. In editing, and after commenting, even if entirely, the Editor retains the right to retain a contribution or accept it for publication solely on the grounds that it does not follow the conventions.
Financial History Review

Contents

Articles

Sebastian Edwards
Keynes and the dollar in 1933: the gold-buying program and exchange rate gyrations
209

Jonathan D. Rose
Financial crises at insurance companies: learning from the demise of the National Surety Company during the Great Depression
239

Brandon Dupont
Bank networks and suspensions in the 1893 panic: evidence from the state banks and their correspondents in Kansas
265

Oasis Kodila-Tedika, Simplice A. Asongu, Matthias Cinyabuguma and Vanessa S. Tchamyou
Financial development and prehistoric geographical isolation: global evidence 283

Kim Abildgren
175 years of financial risks and returns in central banking: Danmarks Nationalbank, 1839–2014
307

Charles A. E. Goodhart and Duncan J. Needham
Historical reasons for the focus on broad monetary aggregates in post-World War II Britain and the ‘Seven Years War’ with the IMF
331