CONTRIBUTIONS

Contributions are invited from all over the world, and especially from scholars working in African universities. Articles written in languages other than English will be considered on their merits, and where necessary translation will be arranged. The average length suggested is 3,000 to 6,000 words, with occasional exceptions of up to 10,000 words. Notes on centres of African studies, research projects, and reports of recent conferences are also welcome.

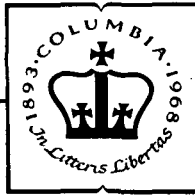

All correspondence and contributions should be addressed to

DAVID & HELEN KIMBLE,
THE EDITORS, THE JOURNAL OF MODERN AFRICAN STUDIES,
at either CAFRAD, B.P. 310, TANGER, MAROC, or UNIVERSITY PRESS, CAMBRIDGE, ENGLAND.

Each contributor will receive a copy of the number and 25 offprints of his article free of charge.

SUBSCRIPTIONS

Subscriptions (55s. net per annual volume of four parts, post free) are payable in advance, and may be sent to any bookseller, or to Cambridge University Press, Bentley House, 200 Euston Road, London, N.W.1. Subscribers in the U.S.A. should send their subscriptions ($9.50 per volume) to Cambridge University Press, American Branch, 32 East 57th Street, New York, N.Y. 10022.

Southern Africa and the United States

WILLIAM A. HANCE, Editor, with LEO KUPER, VERNON MCKAY and
EDWIN S. MUNGER

In this book four of the foremost authorities on Africa assess the factors which bear upon United States relations with southern Africa (including the Republic of South Africa, Rhodesia, and Portuguese Angola and Mozambique) in the light of changing circumstances and attitudes in the U.S., in southern Africa, and in independent black Africa. Some of the topics discussed are the case for and against United States disengagement from South Africa; the sharp dichotomy which exists between the races in South Africa; and the complex international relations which affect the confrontation between black Africa and those parts of southern Africa under white domination. $6.50

Population and Political Systems in Tropical Africa

ROBERT F. STEVENSON

This is a reply to the claims set forth in the classic African Political Systems of Fortes and Evans-Pritchard that, on the basis of African data, no relationship could be determined between population density and political organization in a given area. Historical materials here supplement the original synchronic approach to demonstrate a strong relationship between population density and political complexity in tropical Africa. $10.00

The Population of Tropical Africa

J. C. CALDWELL and CHUKUKA OKONJO, Editors

Tropical Africa has been undergoing rapid social change. Not only is the population growing rapidly but the social structure and technology of the area are also changing at a sometimes startling pace. This volume summarizes the current demographic knowledge of Tropical Africa and indicates fruitful areas for future research.

This work forms the record of the first African Population Conference. $10.00

The Demography of Tropical Africa

By WILLIAM BRASS, ANSLEY J. COALE, PAUL DEMENY, DON F. HEISEL, FRANK LORIMER, ANATOLE ROMANIUK and ETIENNE VAN DE WALLE

This first modern treatise on the demography of sub-Saharan Africa contains up-to-date materials on age and sex composition, fertility, and mortality. The main body of the work consists of case studies on the Republic of the Congo, French-speaking territories, Portuguese territories, the Sudan, and Nigeria. Evidence is described in critical detail, methods of analysis are presented in full, and the reader is given the basis for judging the quality of the estimates. Editorially sponsored by the Office of Population Research, Princeton University. $15.00

REBELS IN THE RIF

Abd el Krim and the Rif Rebellion

DAVID S. WOOLMAN

This complete and detailed account of the Rif Rebellion in Spanish Morocco in the 1920s tells how the Berbers under the chieftain Abd el Krim became the first indigenous Africans in history to fight a prolonged war against their imperialist rulers. Among the European military men who figure prominently in the story are Francisco Franco, Miguel Primo de Rivera, Marshal Hubert Lyautey, and Marshal Philippe Pétain. Introductory chapters describe Spanish Morocco and relate Spain's relationship with Morocco before and after the establishment of the Protectorate in 1912. Illustrated.

The Geography of Modernization in Kenya

A Spatial Analysis of Social, Economic, and Political Change

by Edward W. Soja, Northwestern University. This book, in its examination of modernization in Kenya from a geographer's perspective, demonstrates an important new approach to the study of the development process.

Pointing out that transition takes place in space as well as time, Professor Soja identifies the complex interplay of forces that have shaped Kenya's human geography from pre-colonization days to the present, and traces the differences in areal development resulting from the varying impact of modernizing forces in Kenya—such as the distribution of European and Asian settlement, the development of transportation and communications systems, urbanization, and trade.

The African specialist and the social scientist concerned with the development process will find Professor Soja's geographic perspective, his research procedures, and his findings of unusual importance.
