The Ecclesiastical Law Journal publishes articles on all aspects of ecclesiastical law, and matters concerning Church and State. Particular emphasis is given to the regulation of the Church of England and worldwide Anglican Communion, but the range of coverage includes comparative studies of the laws of other faiths and of the interface between law and religion in a global perspective.

Early Christianity (EC)

Edited by Jörg Frey,
Clare K. Rothschild, Jens Schröter
and Francis Watson

The journal is concerned with early Christianity as a historical phenomenon. Thereby, ›Early Christianity‹ aims to overcome certain limitations which have hindered the development of the discipline, including the concept of the ›New Testament‹ itself. The journal, then, is taken to cover not only the first Christian century but also the second. This journal will not, however, give any special prominence to reception-history or to the second century. The total phenomenon called ›early Christianity‹ comprises a kaleidoscopic range of individual phenomena, including communal structures, social norms, discursive practices, points of conflict, material remains, and much else far more than just the production and reception of texts. This journal will strive to reflect this multiplicity of contexts, in the expectation of new light on our subject-matter from a variety of angles. ›Early Christianity‹ will appear four times a year. Each issue will contain four (or five) articles, at least one of which will be in German, together with sections devoted to new books, new discoveries, and new projects. Every alternate issue will be devoted to a specific theme, and will be the primary responsibility of each of the four co-editors in turn.

Journal of Anglican Studies provides a serious scholarly conversation on all aspects of Anglicanism. It embraces history, theology, worship, ethics, scripture, canon law, aesthetics and education. Anglicans live enmeshed in many different cultural contexts. How their faith is expressed in the particular and how it is shared across the globe is a fundamental issue in this tradition. With its international reach, Journal of Anglican Studies is able to focus on this question and by doing so offers a distinctive and unique contribution to our understanding of Anglicanism today.

Scottish Journal of Theology is an international journal of systematic, historical and biblical theology. Since its establishment in 1948, it has become one of the world's leading theological journals. As well as publishing original research articles, each issue contains an article review consisting of an article-length review of a recent book, with a reply from the author. Scottish Journal of Theology provides an ecumenical forum for debate, and engages in extensive reviewing of theological and biblical literature.

NEW TESTAMENT STUDIES

INSTRUCTIONS FOR CONTRIBUTORS

Submissions

Materials submitted for publication should be sent to the Editor, Professor John M.G. Barclay, at john.barclay@durham.ac.uk (Mail address: Department of Theology and Religion, Durham University, Abbey House, Palace Green, Durham DH1 3RS, UK). Contributors are requested to send one electronic copy in Microsoft Word or Word Perfect and simultaneously a second copy in pdf format. If pdf-submission is not possible, they are required to send two copies of the typescript to the above mail address, retaining a third copy for checking proofs.

The author should certify that the article is not being submitted simultaneously to some other journal and explain to the editor the extent of any overlap with books or articles the author has published or is likely to publish in the near future. Articles that appear elsewhere in the same or a different language should not be submitted to this journal.

In order to ensure an anonymous reviewing process, contributors are expected to ensure that material submitted bears no indication of their identity either at the head of the article or in references to their own work in the text or footnotes.

Upon acceptance of a paper, the author will be asked to assign copyright (on certain conditions) to Cambridge University Press.

Contributors are responsible for obtaining permission to reproduce any material in which they do not hold copyright and for ensuring that the appropriate acknowledgements are included in their manuscript.

Manuscript preparation

New Testament Studies accepts contributions in English, French and German. All articles submitted for publication in this journal are expected to conform to the requirements of the full instructions for contributors which can be found at http://assets.cambridge.org/NTS/NTS_ifc.pdf

Submissions should not normally be longer than 8,500 words, including footnotes (i.e. about 20 pages of the current NTS format). All materials should be double-spaced, including footnotes and citations. Special materials (e.g. lists, tables, charts, diagrams) should be typed on sheets separate from the main text, and the location of such material in the main text should be indicated clearly (e.g. 'insert chart 1 here'). Contributors are asked to supply an abstract of their article, not exceeding 100 words in length, and a list of up to six keywords (for on-line searching). Short studies may be supplied without an abstract.

On acceptance of a submission, contributors will be asked to send a final form of the article electronically in both word format (Microsoft Word or Word Perfect) and pdf format; they will also be asked to supply a copy of any font used in the article. They will be expected to check and correct first proofs of their article after it has been typeset.

Proofs

Typographical or factual errors only may be changed at proof stage. The publisher reserves the right to charge authors for correction of non-typographical errors.

Offprints

Authors of articles and short studies will receive a pdf file of their contribution and a complimentary issue upon publication.

This journal issue has been printed on FSC-certified paper and cover board. FSC is an independent, non-governmental, not-for-profit organization established to promote the responsible management of the world's forests. Please see www.fsc.org for information.
