

from Cambridge

THE LATER CORRESPONDENCE OF GEORGE III

Edited by A. Aspinall

Now complete, this is the standard edition of the later correspondence of George III which follows on from Sir John Fortescue's edition of the earlier correspondence. Volume 5 includes a comprehensive index.

Volume	1:	1783-1793	$22.50
Volume	2:	1793-1797	$22.50
Volume	3:	17981801	$22.50
Volume	4:	1802–1807	$22.50
Volume	5:	1807-1810	$45.00

THE FAMILY LIFE OF RALPH JOSSELIN

Alan Macfarlane

Based on the intimate diary of Ralph Josselin, a seventeenth-century clergyman, this study gives a multi-dimensional view of England of that period. Josselin describes his economic circumstances, church duties, social position, and family and friends.

It is a book of interest to historians, sociologists, economists and church scholars involved in English studies. $9.50

THE RISE OF FREE TRADE IMPERIALISM

Bernard Semmel

Professor Semmel uncovers certain intellectual origins of the imperialism of the classic period, the sources from which later theories of imperialism were constructed, and describes the ideology that was behind the dismantling of the old colonial system and the creation of the Victorian Pax Britannica. $11.50

CAMBRIDGE UNIVERSITY PRESS

32 East 57th Street New York, N.Y. 10022

from Cambridge

SIR JOHN BRUNNER, RADICAL PLUTOCRAT 1842-1919 Conference on British Studies Biographical Series

Stephen Koss

Unlike most wealthy men of his day, Sir John Brunner was a staunch supporter of the Liberal Party and its radical causes. Co-founder of one of the great English chemical firms and a Member of Parliament, he used his wealth and position to fight for land reform, welfare legislation, and naval disarmament. Dedicated to international conciliation, he worked with Chamberlain, Gladstone, and Lloyd George, and served as president of the National Liberal Federation before and during World War I.

Professor Koss's study is based on extensive research including use of family letters. $13.50

VICTORIAN ENGLAND 1837-1901 Conference on British Studies Bibliographical Handbooks

Compiled by JOSEF L. ALTHOLZ

The third volume in the series of Bibliographical Handbooks covers all aspects of the history of the period except literature. $5.95

Previous books in the series:

ANGLO-NORMAN ENGLAND 1066-1154

Compiled by MICHAEL ALTSCHUL

$5.95

TUDOR ENGLAND 1485-1603

Compiled by MORTIMER LEVINE

$4.50

CAMBRIDGE UNIVERSITY PRESS

32 East 57th Street New York, N.Y. 10022

THE NEW ZEALAND JOURNAL OF HISTORY Editor: Keith Sinclair

Published twice yearly by the University of Auckland

Articles in Vol. 4, No. 2 and Vol. 5, No. 1 published in October 1970 and April 1971 are expected to include:

DAVID HILLIARD	'Bishop G. A. Selwyn and the Melanesian Mission'
N. R. BENNETT	'Consultation or Information? Britain, the Do- minions and the renewal of the Anglo-Japanese Alliance, 1911'
W. E. CHEONG	"The Beginnings of Credit Finance on the China Coast: the Canton Financial Crisis of 1812-1815"
HENRY REYNOLDS	'Australian Nationalism: Tasmanian Patriotism'
P. GRIMSHAW	'Politicians and Suffragettes: A study of the passage of woman's suffrage through the New Zealand Parliament in the years 1891-1893'
ROBERT SKLAR	'Humour in America'
Subscriptions (N.Z. $3.00; A. $3.50; U.S. $4.00; £1.12.6 stg.) and requests for back copies should be addressed to:
The Business Manager
New Zealand Journal of History History Dept., University of Auckland Private Bag
AUCKLAND, New Zealand.

https://doi.org/10.1017/S0021937100029014 Published online by Cambridge University Press

Wenceslaus Hollar Delineator of His Time

By KATHERINE S. VAN EERDE, Muhlenberg College. xiv, 122 pp., frontis., illus., bibliog. essay, index. THE FOLGER SHAKESPEARE LIBRARY $15.00 This study of the vast work of Wenceslaus Hollar, the famous seventeenth-century artist, presents a fresh interpretation of the man himself and of the social, physical, and political aspects of England, his adopted country. Holler traveled extensively on the Continent and after being exiled from Bohemia, he came to England. There, new surroundings sharpened his vision. His engravings and drawings of the land and of its people provide an irreplaceable view of seventeenth-century life. Facts about Hollar have been scarce, but this study skillfully uses the artist's work to fill out the framework of what is known. The result is a refreshing and authoritative account.

The Common Scientist in the Seventeenth Century

A Study of the Dublin Philosophical Society, 1683-1708

By K. THEODORE HOPPEN, University of Hull. xii, 297 pp., apps., bibliog., notes. $7.50 Learned societies, such as the Royal Society of London and the Académie des Sciences of Paris, were a central feature of the scientific revolution of the seventeenth century. K. T. Hoppen shows that a study of the work and membership of these groups is essential before any realistic assessment can be made of the scientific world at this time. The present book provides a detailed examination of one such institution — the Philosophical Society which flourished at Dublin between 1683 and 1708.

There was a close association between the Philosophical Society and the Royal Society, and this connection enables the author to illuminate certain aspects of British scientific life in the late seventeenth and early eighteenth centuries. The work, membership, and intellectual outlook of the Dublin Society, which was active when Jonathan Swift was an undergraduate at Dublin and probably gave him his first view of experimental science, are placed firmly within both the framework of Irish history and that of the history of ideas.

John Lydgate

By DEREK PEARSALL, University of York. 312 pp., frontis., illus.

The idea that dominates this book is that of the professional craftsman at work in a variety of poetic forms in response to the demands and occasions of his age. Lydgate's poetry, set against this background, is found to be of unexpectedly high quality, and, further, to be invaluable as a large and representative corpus of work which takes us into the very cellars of the medieval mind. Mr. Pearsall argues that in some ways, then, the reading of Lydgate can be seen as the essential preface to the reading of Chaucer.

University Press of Virginia

Charlottesville

$6.75

The

William and Mary Quarterly:

A Magazine of Early American History

Published in January, April, July, and October by the Institute of Early American History and Culture

Annual subscription is $5.00 (Students and Armed Forces, $3.00). Single copies, $1.50. Index to Vols. I-XV (1944-1958), $6.15.

All communications should be addressed to the Editor, The William and Mary Quarterly, Box 220, Williamsburg, Virginia 23185.

The Diary of Samuel Pepys

Edited by Robert Latham and William Matthews

The Diary of Samuel Pepys is one of the principal sourcebooks for many aspects of mid-17th century English history. It is also a repertory of the familiar language of the period and, therefore, a valuable source for historians of the English language. More important, it is one of the great classics of literature. The text presented here is complete and free of editorial tampering. Each volume is illustrated and contains maps and a glossary.

1970 First three volumes illustrations $27.00

Queen Elizabeth and the Revolt of the Netherlands Charles Wilson

A powerful historical school shaped by the late Pieter Geyl views the emergence of the Dutch Republic in the Elizabethan Age as a geographical accident. Mr. Wilson rejects this view as simplistic and proceeds to analyze the many other forces that helped determine the final result. While recognizing Elizabeth's problems, the author believes her procrastination and poor judgment contributed to the Netherlands' troubles and incurred serious and unnecessary difficulties for England.

1970 LC: 76-119009 200 pages $6.95

The English Civil War and After, 1642-1658 Edited by R. H. Parry

"These essays offer a remarkably balanced picture of the Great Rebellion. While seven celebrated historians writing on discrete subjects cannot provide a full narrative or an integrated analysis of the period, somehow, perhaps intuitively, the seven essays present a near unified appraisal of the English Civil War. The essays contain new material and constitute an original contribution to historical knowledge."-Thomas G. Barnes, University of California, Berkeley

1970 LC: 74-111423 130 pages paper, $2.45; cloth, $7.00

Hanoverian London, 1714-1808

George Rudé

During the reign of the Hanoverians, London became the largest city in Europe, and perhaps the world. It was the center of government and a great emporium. Its culture, fine arts, intellectual life, taste and fashion reverberated throughout Europe and the New World. This is a distinguished historian's synoptic overview and original contribution to the history of London over a century of expansion.

1970 LC: 69-10590 illustrations 288 pages $7.95

Studies in Burke and His Time

(formerly The Burke Newsletter)

Published in the fall, winter and spring by Alfred University

Annual subscription is $4.00 within the United States or Canada; $5.00 elsewhere. Back issues are also available by volume. Remittances should be made payable to Alfred University.

The editors invite contributions of essays on Burke's life, thought or continuing influence, on his milieu, or on ideas which support or oppose Burke.

All communications should be directed to Peter J. Stanlis, Editor, Studies in Burke and His Time, Rockford College, Rockford, Illinois, 61101. Oxford University Press

Preparatory to Anglo-Saxon England

BEING THE COLLECTED PAPERS OF THE LATE SIR FRANK STENTON

Edited by LADY DORIS STENTON. From 1905 until his death, Sir Frank Stenton published brief, masterly notes on doubtful points of Anglo-Saxon history. Representative of the articles and papers he gave to large audiences throughout his life, this volume includes two selections, The Thriving of the Anglo-Saxon Ceorl and Anglo-Saxon Coinage and the Historian, never before published. $16.00

Bureaucracy and Church Reform

THE ORGANIZATIONAL RESPONSE OF THE CHURCH OF ENGLAND TO SOCIAL CHANGE 1800-1965

By KENNETH A. THOMPSON, Smith College. The central theme of this book is the process by which the Church of England has adapted its organization in response to social changes. The approach is sociological, considering religion primarily as an institutional phenomenon. Church reform movements and the general evolution of the bureaucratic organization of the Church are related to broader changes in the structure of English society. $9.00

The Growth of White-Collar Unionism

By GEORGE SAYERS BAIN, Nuffield College, Oxford. The growth of the white-collar labor force is one of the most outstanding characteristics of the economic and social development of this century, with the number of these workers increasing in every major industrial country. To continue to play an effective role in the industrial relations system, the author contends, the trade union movement must recruit this category of workers. Figures, tables. $9.00

The King's Pardon for Homicide Before A.D. 1307

By NAOMI D. HURNARD, formerly, Lady Margaret Hall, Oxford. This study seeks to explain why the man who committed homicide by misadventure or in self-defense needed a pardon. The author examines the system of pardoning in thirteenth-century England, its effects on victims' kinsmen's claims for reparation or retribution, and the risk of losing public order by giving clemency to felonious killers. Attention is also given excusable homicide, flight from the law, laws concerning children and the insane, and attempts at reform. $12.00

WY OXFORD WY UNIVERSITY WY PRESS

200 Madison Avenue, New York, N.Y. 10016

Oxford University Press

Whitehall Diary

VOLUME I: 1916-1925; VOLUME II: 1926-1930

By THOMAS JONES; edited by KEITH MIDDLEMAS, University of Sussex. Thomas Jones' political diaries were kept during the time he served on the English Cabinet Secretariat, from 1916 to 1930. The material in these volumes varies from personal recollection to verbatim accounts on some of the more controversial cabinet meetings of the period. Jones includes vivid characterizations of such figures as Lloyd George, Bonar Law, Baldwin, Churchill, and Chamberlain. In two volumes. Each, $8.75

The Trinity House of Deptford, 1515-1660

By G. G. HARRIS. This study examines the crucial formative years of Deptford Trinity House, the Corporation which is now the principal lighthouse, seamark, and pilotage authority of the United Kingdom. The author traces the development of Trinity House under the rule of the Tudors and early Stuarts, describing the Corporation's origins, membership, activities, and relationship to various governments. (University of London Historical Studies, No. 24.) (The Athlone Press.) $13.00

The Ministry of Housing and Local Government

By EVELYN SHARP. The Permanent Secretary to the Ministry of Housing from 1955 to 1966 describes the functions of the Ministry as they stood in 1968. Tracing the history of this Ministry from its origin with the Poor Law Commission in 1834, the author discusses each function of the department, its total rule and quasi-judicial position, and its relations with other departments as well as with local authorities. An appendix lists the presidents, ministers, and parliamentary secretaries from 1871 through 1968. (New Whitehall Series, No. 14.) $6.50

The Tudor Commonwealth, 1529-1559

By WHITNEY R. D. JONES. Based on an extensive examination of printed sources of all types and the findings of historical research, this book considers the evolution and the influence of an ideal which was in some respects "the mid-Tudor equivalent of the Welfare State." The problems of the critical period 1529-1559, economic and social as well as religious and constitutional, are examined through contemporary eyes. (The Athlone Press.) $9.00

WOXFORD W UNIVERSITY W PRESS

200 Madison Avenue, New York, N.Y. 10016

Oxford University Press

From the Dreadnought to Scapa Flow

THE ROYAL NAVY IN THE FISHER ERA, 1904-1919 VOLUME 5

By ARTHUR J. MARDER, University of California, Irvine, and University of Oxford. Professor Marder's previous volumes dealt with the period from 1904, when Admiral Sir John Fisher became First Sea Lord, through the launching of H.M.S. Dreadnought in 1906, to the outbreak of World War I and the U-boat crisis of 1917. This final volume completes the story and shows the triumphs of the British Navy, considering also the dawn of postwar problems. The volume contains a bibliography for the entire work. Illustrated. $12.00

The Yorkshire Gentry

FROM THE REFORMATION TO THE CIVIL WAR

By J. T. CLIFFE. Covering some 1,000 families, this study of the dominate social class in Yorkshire during the years 1588-1642 discusses the gentry as landowners and industrialists, the struggles of rising and declining families, education and upbringing, the Catholic group and the impact of penal laws, the rise of Puritanism, the gentry disaffected toward the Crown, and factors affecting choice between King and Parliament on the eve of the Civil War. (University of London Historical Studies, No. 25.) (The Athlone Press.) $14.50

Frail Vessels

WOMAN'S ROLE IN WOMEN'S NOVELS FROM FANNY BURNEY TO GEORGE ELIOT

By HAZEL MEWS, Girton College, Cambridge University. A crucial phase in the emancipation movement, the years between publication of Mary Wollstonecraft's Vindication of the Rights of Woman (1792) and of John Stuart Mill's essay On the Subjection of Women (1869) saw the emergence of England's greatest women writers. Dr. Mews examines their response to the flow of new ideas as revealed in many outstanding works of fiction. (The Athlone Press.) $7.25

A Descriptive Finding List of Unstamped British Periodicals, 1830-1836

By JOEL H. WIENER, City College of New York. Beginning in 1830, hundreds of periodicals were illicitly published in Britain without payment to the government. This volume describes all such periodicals issued more frequently than once a month and sold for a price which legally required stamp duty. For each periodical listed comprehensive documentation is provided, including institutional holdings. (The Bibliographical Society series.) $6.50

谢 OXFORD 谢 UNIVERSITY 谢 PRESS

200 Madison Avenue, New York, N.Y. 10016

The Conference on British Studies announces that the second annual

WALTER D. LOVE MEMORIAL PRIZE

has been awarded to

Richard L. Greaves, THE PURITAN REVOLUTION AND EDUCATIONAL THOUGHT: BACKGROUND FOR REFORM

(Rutgers University Press)

Nominations for the third annual prize, to be awarded in November 1971, may be sent to: Professor Cynthia F. Behrman, Secretary to the Prize Committee, Department of History, Wittenberg University, Springfield, Ohio 45501.

ÉIRE-IRELAND

A QUARTERLY JOURNAL OF IRISH STUDIES

Published by the Irish American Cultural Institute — circulation in more than 20 countries —

An interdisciplinary journal with articles on Irish art, folklore, history, literature, politics, etc.

Book reviews, notes and queries, special departments

$10.00 a year

ÉIRE-IRELAND, Box 5026,

College of St. Thomas, St. Paul, Minn. 55101

THE HISTORICAL JOURNAL

Editor: F. H. HINSLEY

Volume XIII, Number 3, September 1970

Articles

MARIE AXTON Robert Dudley and the Inner Temple Revels

B. W. HILL Executive Monarchy and the Challenge of the Parties, 1689-1832: Two Concepts of Government and Two Historiographical Interpretations

C. DUNCAN RICE 'Humanity Sold for Sugar!' The British Abolitionist Response to Free Trade in Slave-grown Sugar

E. D. STEELE J. S. Mill and the Irish Question: Reform, and the Integrity of the Empire, 1865-1870

DAVID SWEET The Baltic in British Diplomacy before the First World War

WILLIAM A. RENZI The Entente and the Vatican during the Period of Italian Neutrality, August 1914-May 1915

EDWARD DAVID The Liberal Party Divided, 1916-1918

WILLIAM ALLEN FLETCHER The German Administration in Luxemburg, 1940-1942: Toward a de facto Annexation

Review Article

ZARA STEINER Finance, Trade and Politics in British Foreign Policy, 1815-1914

Annual subscription $10.50 for four issues

CAMBRIDGE UNIVERSITY PRESS 32 East 57th Street, New York, N. Y. 10022

CONFERENCE ON BRITISH STUDIES PRIZE

The Conference on British Studies will award its fifth triennial prize of three hundred dollars in November, 1972. The prize will be given for the best book published between January 1, 1969 and December 31, 1971, by an American or Canadian scholar. It must be the author's first book. Its subject must lie either within the field of British or Commonwealth History and Culture.

Detailed information and recommendations will appear in the next issue of this Journal.

The past recipients of the prize are: Philip P. Poirier, Ohio State University, 1960; C. Warren Hollister, University of California, 1963; Melvin Richter, Hunter College, 1966; Isaac Kramnick, Yale University, 1969.

THE JOURNAL OF BRITISH STUDIES TRINITY COLLEGE HARTFORD, CONNECTICUT

The Journal of British Studies, founded in 1961, is published at Trinity College under the auspices of the Conference on British Studies. It was the result of the imaginative generosity of a Trinity alumnus, Frederick E. Hasler (Hon. LL.D. 1957) who contributed funds to the College for the specific purpose of establishing a learned periodical in the field of British history. Several Trinity alumni subsequently contributed to the fund and Trinity College now supports the publication of the Journal.

The Conference on British Studies is the official organization in the United States and Canada of scholars working in the field of British history and culture; its status as such is recognized by the American Historical Association of which it is an affiliate. Its nearly eight hundred members are drawn from forty-eight states and five provinces. It convenes twice each year, usually at New York University.

The Conference awards a prize triennially for the best first book by an American or Canadian scholar.

The Conference sponsors a considerable publications program. It publishes the Journal of British Studies at Trinity College; the British Studies Intelligencer, a newsletter, at Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kansas; Studies in British History and Culture, an annual series of monographs, at the University of Bridgeport, Connecticut; Archives in British History and Culture, an annual series devoted to the publication of documents, at West Virginia University, Morgantown; and Current Research in British Studies, a quadrennial survey of research in progress in the United States and Canada, the next edition of which will appear in 1969 at Southern Methodist University. The Conference has begun a new series, to be published by the Cambridge University Press, of biographical and historical studies of men and women who were makers and shapers of the English experience.

In addition to the Conference on British Studies, there are four affiliates: the Pacific Coast Conference on British Studies, the Midwest Conference on British Studies, the Southern Conference on British Studies, and the New England Conference on British Studies. Each of these vital autonomous groups has its own officers, program, and other activities. There are also local groups centered in San Francisco, Los Angeles, Detroit, and Pittsburgh.

The Journal of British Studies appears twice in the academic year, in the autumn and in the spring. The annual subscription is $5.00. Checks for subscriptions and enquiries concerning advertising rates should be directed to the Business Manager, British Studies, Box 1315, Trinity College, Hartford, Connecticut, 06106.

Volume X, No. 2 will be published in May, 1971.

This is the first scholarly biography of Samuel Wilberforce, a prominent bishop in the Church of England from 1845 to 1873. Using both family papers and church documents, the author outlines Wilberforce's Evangelical upbringing, the subsequent development of his beliefs, his work as a bishop, and his understanding of the part a state church might play in the life of a nation. $13.50

LORD BISHOP The Life of Samuel Wilberforce 1805-1873 by Standish Meacham

HARVARD UNIVERSITY PRESS