Contents

Preface

International responses to technology: Concepts and trends. John Gerard Ruggie 557

International safeguarding as institutionalized collective behavior. Robert Pendley and Lawrence Scheinman with the collaboration of Richard W. Butler 585

INTELSAT: Technology, politics and the transformation of a regime. Steven A. Levy. 655

In search of an ocean regime: The negotiations in the General Assembly's Seabed Committee 1968–1970. John Ludvik Løvald. 681

Collective arrangements for managing ocean fisheries. Charles B. Heck. 711

Technocrats and the management of international fisheries. Barbara Johnson. 745

International responses to weather modification. Edith Brown Weiss. 805

Is there a hole in the whole? Knowledge, technology, interdependence and the construction of international regimes. Ernst B. Haas. 827

Toward mutual accountability in the nonterrestrial realms. Seyom Brown and Larry L. Fabian. 877

The Cocoyoc Declaration. 893

Carnegie Endowment Travel and Maintenance Program. 903

Glossary of acronyms. 905

Bibliographical note. 909
International Organization publishes analytical articles, review essays of current literature in the field, brief notes dealing with problems of both theoretical and methodological interest, and comments designed to encourage lively interchanges of views on issues of wide interest.

International Organization particularly welcomes manuscripts that focus on the development and functioning of international agencies or arrangements, including regional arrangements, or on their relationships with the international political and economic environments in which they operate. The journal is also interested in publishing articles on transnational relations and on problems of intergovernmental policy coordination in the absence of international institutions.

The Board of Editors welcomes fresh critical analyses along the foregoing lines. It is not interested in descriptions or chronological treatments of institutions with little assessment and interpretation. Manuscripts should provide original, insightful interpretations and evaluations of significant developments or trends; they should not repeat material familiar and elsewhere available to specialists in international affairs.

All manuscripts should be sent in triplicate to the Editor, Robert Keohane, at the address below. Articles and review essays submitted for consideration should not exceed 45 double-spaced typewritten pages (8½ x 11”). Notes on theory and method and comments should not exceed 2,000 words. The style is generally consistent with the University of Chicago Manual of Style in most instances.

Decisions on publication are made pursuant to independent critical comment by two or more competent readers. Authors may expect a decision within six weeks of the Editor’s receipt of a manuscript.

Center for Research in International Studies, Stanford University, Stanford, CA. 94305.