Cambridge’s economics list is renowned for the breadth and quality of its publishing.

Our book list is home to the work of some of the most important economists in the history of the discipline, most notably John Maynard Keynes, as well as the work of almost 30 Sveriges Riksbank Nobel Prize laureates, including Kenneth Arrow, Herbert Simon, Robert Solow and Joseph Stiglitz.

This is complemented by a cluster of key journals such as Econometric Theory, Journal of Economic History and Journal of Financial and Quantitative Analysis.

For further details visit: cambridge.org/core-economics
The Journal of Institutional Economics aims to provide all authors with an identity or institution of any author of the article within the article itself, or in the "proprietary" of the electronic file. Normally, articles (including footnotes and references) must be for longer than 9,000 words. In special cases, such as an extended review or survey article, this limit may be extended to 12,000 words. A declaration of the total word count (including footnotes and references) must accompany it or be within the article.

Authors must try to stick to a minimum and the Harvard referencing system should be used.

Footnotes should be kept to a minimum and the Harvard referencing system should be used.

Submission of a paper will be held to imply that it contains original unpublished work and is not being submitted for publication elsewhere.

Papers with some formal content will be submitted online via the journal’s submission website by clicking on the "Submit Manuscript" link in the top right of the screen, and then clicking on the "Submit Manuscript" link on the following page.

The submission is complete if it is fully explained for a general reader, and the manuscript is considered as much as possible to appendices, the assumptions have sufficient grounding in reality, and the paper enhances our understanding of past, present, or feasible socio-economic institutions. JOIE is not interested in the advancement of formal or economic techniques for their own sake. The front page of the electronic file of the article should include the following information: the title, an abstract of the article of up to 350 words, the Journal of Economic Literature classification codes for the article (consisting of a single letter followed by two or three numbers, e.g., W15/C02), and up to six key words or short phrases.

Footnotes should be kept to a minimum and the Harvard referencing system should be used.

Submission of a paper will be held to imply that it contains original unpublished work and is not being submitted for publication elsewhere.

Papers with some formal content will be submitted online via the journal’s submission website by clicking on the "Submit Manuscript" link in the top right of the screen, and then clicking on the "Submit Manuscript" link on the following page.

The submission is complete if it is fully explained for a general reader, and the manuscript is considered as much as possible to appendices, the assumptions have sufficient grounding in reality, and the paper enhances our understanding of past, present, or feasible socio-economic institutions. JOIE is not interested in the advancement of formal or economic techniques for their own sake. The front page of the electronic file of the article should include the following information: the title, an abstract of the article of up to 350 words, the Journal of Economic Literature classification codes for the article (consisting of a single letter followed by two or three numbers, e.g., W15/C02), and up to six key words or short phrases.

Footnotes should be kept to a minimum and the Harvard referencing system should be used.

Submission of a paper will be held to imply that it contains original unpublished work and is not being submitted for publication elsewhere.
SPECIAL ISSUE ON COLONIAL INSTITUTIONS AND AFRICAN DEVELOPMENT

CONTENTS

197 Introduction to the Special Issue on colonial institutions and African development
Antoine Parent

207 Democracy and institutions in postcolonial Africa
Alan Green

233 Constitutional bargaining and the quality of contemporary African institutions: a test of the incremental reform hypothesis
Roger D. Congleton and Dongwoo Yoo

259 Is colonialism history? The declining impact of colonial legacies on African institutional and economic development
Robbert Maseland

289 Copying informal institutions: the role of British colonial officers during the decolonization of British Africa
Valentin Seidler

313 From coercion to compensation: institutional responses to labour scarcity in the Central African Copperbelt
Dascal Jouf and Ewout Frankema

345 Historical institutional determinants of financial system development in Africa
Chukwunonye O. Emeruwa, Francesca Gagliardi and Geoffrey M. Hodgson

373 Institutions and the colonisation of Africa: some lessons from French colonial economics
Abdallah Zouache

393 Clément Juglar and Algeria: three pillars of modern anti-colonial criticism
Antoine Parent and Robert Butler

ISSN 1744-1374

For further information about this journal please go to the journal website at: cambridge.org/joi

https://doi.org/10.1017/S174413741800005X

Published online by Cambridge University Press