

IMPROVEMENT OF ORBITS OF SATELLITES OF SATURN USING PHOTOGRAPHIC OBSERVATIONS

A.T. Sinclair
Royal Greenwich Observatory

ABSTRACT

A programme of photographic observations of the satellites of Saturn, and the method of reduction and analysis are described. The observations have been used to update existing theories of Tethys, Dione, Rhea and Titan. A new theory of the motion of Iapetus has been fitted to the observations.