

JUDICIAL AND LEGAL SYSTEMS IN AFRICA

Edited by A. N. ALLOTT, M.A., PH.D., Reader in African Law in the University of London; Director, Restatement of African Law Project, School of Oriental and African Studies.

No-one who is studying for the optional African Law part of the Bar examinations should be without this work; it will, however, also find a wide market among people concerned with the practical administration of Law in Africa as well as others who may be interested in it purely as a book of reference. Running to some 220 pages, this book contains—amongst other material—a number of invaluable diagrams.

Constitutional Law of # GHANA

By F. A. R. BENNION, M.A. (Oxon.) of the Middle Temple, Barrister-at-Law; Technical Adviser to the Government of Ghana on the preparation of legislation (1959-1961); sometime Lecturer and Tutor in Law at St. Edmund Hall, Oxford.

Ghana's achievement of independence in 1960 resulted, not unnaturally, in the recasting of the law. The author of this book took an active part in the preparation of the new legislation, and is therefore extremely well-qualified to present this authoritative exposition of the Constitutional Law of Ghana.

Not only does the author expound the provisions of the law as they exist; he also gives a certain amount of technical help wherever necessary. In this way he does much to lessen the problem facing those who suddenly find themselves confronted with such a mass of unfamiliar legislation. Clearly, no-one who needs a guide to this subject—be he teacher, student or administrator—can afford to ignore BENNION.
