EDITORIAL POLICY

The British Journal of Political Science is an independent journal, whose policy is set by its editorial board. It is committed to no methodological orthodoxy over and above the normal canons of scholarship: clear and consistent use of words, logical and mathematical validity, and the use of appropriate evidence to substantiate empirical statements. Contributions are invited in all fields of political science, including political philosophy and political sociology. Work addressed to problems of general significance to students of politics will be published whatever the period(s) or place(s) drawn upon for evidence.

Democratic Theory

Essays in Retrieval

C. B. MACPHERSON

The ideas advanced in Professor Macpherson's The Political Theory of Possessive Individualism and The Real World of Democracy are here carried further, made more precise, and applied specifically to future problems of democracy. Neglected problems of democratic theory are examined, as are shortcomings of some current liberal-democratic theories. There is also a new essay on the author's controversy with Peter Laslett about the nature of seventeenth-century English society. £2.75 paper covers £1.25

The Aberystwyth Papers

International Politics 1919-1969

Edited by BRIAN PORTER

This book is a distinguished collection of papers by fourteen leading international scholars. They were written in honour of the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of the world's first Chair of International Politics, at the University College of Wales, Aberystwyth. Among the contributors are Hans Morgenthau, Michael Howard, Barbara Ward, and Sir Herbert Butterfield. £5.50

Legal Control of Government

Administrative Law in Britain and the United States

BERNARD SCHWARTZ and H. W. R. WADE

The rule of law is a primary article of faith in the British and American democracies. What it means in practice is determined by the rules of administrative law, which set numerous legal limits to the powers of government. This work compares the systems of the two countries, both in general and in detail. £3

The Migration of Workers

in the United Kingdom and the European Community

W. R. BÖHNING

Freedom of movement for workers is a fundamental tenet of the European Economic Community. This book analyses the experience of the Six, and of Britain and Switzerland; the likely size, composition, and direction of future cross-Channel migration are shown to run counter to popular expectation. 29 tables £3 Institute of Race Relations

EUROPEAN CONSORTIUM FOR POLITICAL RESEARCH

Sixth Essex Summer School in Social Science Data Analysis

9 July to 19 August 1973

The European Consortium for Political Research will be sponsoring the Sixth School, to be held at Essex from 9th July to 19th August. The main subjects to be covered will be selected from a range including:

Elements of Data-analysis and Computer Programming
Mathematical Theory of Regression
Topics in Advanced Regression Analysis
Scaling and Data Theory
Multi-dimensional Analysis—Metric and Non-metric
Critique of Causal Modelling
Time Series Analysis
Matrix Algebra and Calculus
Mathematical Political Theory
Computer-based Simulation
Problems of Cross-national Aggregate Analysis
Problems of Survey-based Analysis of Cross-national Voting Behaviour

Instruction will emphasize particularly the application of these techniques to data collections held by the School. Full supporting computer facilities will be available. This year there will be a concurrent summer school in quantitative methods for historians. There will be ample opportunities for mixing between the two schools, and for exchanges of ideas and criticisms. Financial support may be available to participants from their own Institutions or National Research Councils; failing such support, the Consortium may offer aid to suitable applicants. The organizers particularly wish to attract graduate students, research assistants and junior staff. Interested persons should write to:
