News and Notes

Activities

Graham Allison, Harvard University; James A. Bill, University of Texas, Austin; Leonard Binder, University of Chicago; Dankwart A. Rustow, City University of New York; Marshal Shulman, Columbia University; and Marvin Zonis, University of Chicago, participated in the Symposium on "Iran: Past, Present, and Future," sponsored by the Aspen Institute for Humanistic Studies at Persepolis, Iran, September 15-19, 1975.

Charles T. Barber, Indiana State University, Evansville, received a grant from the Rotary Foundation to travel to two states of India—Maharashtra and Andhra Pradesh—between December 26, 1975 and February 7, 1976 as part of a group study exchange team.

Joseph Board, Union College, has been selected to serve on the Publications Advisory Council of the American Scandinavian Foundation.

Douglas A. Brown, Arizona Western College, was in Guadalajara, Mexico in June of 1975 for research and study under a Multicultural Awareness and Development Grant from the U.S. Office of Education.

Carl Q. Christol, University of Southern California, has been reappointed to the Advisory Panel on International Law, U.S. Department of State.

O. B. Conway, Jr., West Virginia University, received a grant from the Benedum Foundation for various county assistance projects in West Virginia.

Karl W. Deutsch, Harvard University, has accepted for his sabbatical leave 1977-78, and for every second semester from 1979 through 1982, the position of Scientific Co-Director of the Institute for Comparative Social Research at the Science Center, Berlin. This Center is independent of the Free University in Berlin, and is supported by the City of Berlin and the government of the German Federal Republic of Bonn. Dr. Deutsch was awarded the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws by the University of Michigan, at its Commencement on December 14, 1975.

Victor C. Ferkiss, Georgetown University, conducted a seminar at the Faculdade de Economia Sao Luis, Sao Paulo, Brazil, in August 1975. Professor Ferkiss will be Eli Lilly Visiting Professor of Science, Theology, and Human Values at Purdue University during the spring semester 1976.

Richard Finnegan, Stonehill College, Massachusetts, will spend the spring semester 1976 on sabbatical leave at Trinity College, Dublin.

Betty Glad, University of Illinois, Urbana, received a National Endowment for the Humanities Fellowship for Independent Study and Research for 1975-76. Professor Glad spent the summer as an associate for the Center for Psychosocial Studies, Chicago, and spent the remainder of the grant period as Guest Scholar at the Brookings Institution, Washington, D.C.

Richard H. Heindel, Pennsylvania State University, Capitol Campus, has been granted a research leave to develop a survey of the American Impact Abroad. He will be in Washington, D.C. until March 1976.

Ralph W. Hemphill, Jr., Georgia College, has been named the Georgia College Foundation's Distinguished professor for 1975-76.

Erik P. Hoffmann, SUNY, Albany, is a Senior Research Fellow at Columbia University's Research Institute on International Change and the Russian Institute for 1975-76. His research, supported by the American Council of Learned Societies and the Social Science Research Council, is on "The Scientific-Technological Revolution" and the Soviet Political System."

Yung-hwan Jo, Arizona State University, read a paper in lage June 1975 at the Tokyo symposium sponsored by the Joint Research Institute of International Relations in Japan entitled, "Long Range Impacts of Japan on Korea." On October 10-11, 1975, Professor Jo presided over a panel on Chinese area studies and the field of political science at the Western Conference of the Association of Asian Studies in Boulder, Colorado. On October 13-14 he attended a National Science Foundation seminar on comparative elite analysis in Kansas City, Missouri. On October 16-19, Dr. Jo attended a conference in Hamburg, Germany, at which he presented a paper on Korea as a divided country and made comparisons with Germany. On October 20-23 he delivered a series of lectures on current research trends, issues, and the focus and direction of Chinese politics in the U.S. at Der Humboldt Universitat zu Berlin. Effective January 1976 he will become Editor of Asian Forum.

Hong Kim, West Virginia University, was on sabbatical leave from August 1975 to January 1976 in Tokyo, Japan.

Zdenek Krystufek, University of Colorado, attended the World Congress on Philosophy of Law and Social Philosophy in Saint Louis in August 1975. He presented a paper on "Socialism and Democracy."

David G. Lawrence, Westmont College, has received a grant from the Exxon Education Foundation's IMPACT Program. He will implement the "guided design" innovation in the department's basic American Government Course.

Thomas E. Mann, The American Political Science Association, and Jeane J. Kirkpatrick, Georgetown University, have been appointed to a newly created Commission of the Democratic National Committee on "The Role and Future of Presidential Primaries."

Kathleen Howard Merriam, Bowling Green State University, has been on a ten-month leave of absence for 1974-75 as a fellow of the American Research Center in Egypt for research on the emergence of contemporary Egyptian women in public life. She also worked in Ethiopia, Kenya and Kuwait.

John C. Merriam, Bowling Green State University, has been on a ten-month leave of absence for 1974-75 for research on the impact of the oil price hikes, and OPEC aid to the non-oil producing lesser developed countries. Based in Egypt he also worked in Ethiopia, Kenya and Kuwait and was an observer at the Ninth Arab Petroleum Congress, Dubai, United Arab Emirates.

Roy E. Miller, Southern Illinois University, Carbondale, will be on sabbatical leave during spring 1976.

Manindra K. Mohapatra, Old Dominion University, has been appointed as a Consultant to the City of Chesapeake, Virginia, in connection with a study of the City's Ombudsman and Complaint-handling system.

Clement Henry Moore, University of Michigan, will be with the Foundation Nationale des Sciences Politiques, Paris, during the summer 1976, on a research appointment to develop a project with the Centre des Relations Internationales concerning factional cleavages in authoritarian regimes.

Robert Sharlet, Union College, has been selected to serve as a member of the ACLS-SSRC Joint Committee on Soviet Studies for 1975-76.

J. David Singer, University of Michigan, is in Mannheim, West Germany, on sabbatical leave from January to August 1976. His stay will culminate in Edinburgh, where he will participate in the IPSA congress.

Evelyn P. Stevens has been elected Vice President for 1976 of the Latin American Studies Association, with automatic assumption of the post of President in 1977.

Lane V. Sunderland, Knox College, was recently awarded the Philip Green Wright-Lombard College prize for Distinguished Teaching.

Jacob Walkin, Auburn University, was on sabbatical leave for the fall semester 1975 spending time in Yugoslavia where he was engaged in research.

New Appointments

Francis A. Beer, Professor, University of Colorado.

Barry Bozeman, assistant Professor, University of Missouri, Columbia; formerly of Georgia Institute of Technology.

Mark Burns, instructor, Auburn University.

John Deegan, Jr., assistant professor, University of Rochester; formerly of Rice University.

Debora Dunkle, lecturer, San Diego State University.

John Foster, assistant professor, Southern Illinois University, Carbondale; formerly of Georgia State University.

Paul Y. Hammond, Edward R. Weidlein Professor in Environmental and Public Policy Studies, University of Pittsburgh; formerly of the Rand Corporation.

Edward Harris, instructor, Southern Connecticut State College.

Edward V. Heck, lecturer, San Diego State University.

Hugh F. Hinton, assistant professor, University of Toledo; formerly of the University of Southern Mississippi.

Thomas Ingersoll, assistant Professor, West Virginia University.

William Kasper, lecturer, San Diego State University.

Donald Kelley, assistant professor, Mississippi State University.

Sanford H. Kessler, instructor, Hamilton College

William Earle Klay, assistant professor, Mississippi State University.

Zdenek Krystufek, professor, University of Colorado.

Robert A. Miller, assistant professor, Mississippi State University.

James Millikan, assistant professor, Stonehill College.

Tommie Sue Montgomery, Faculty of Educational Studies, Richmond College, CUNY.

Jim L. Munro, professor, University of West Florida; formerly of University of Kentucky.

John S. Nelson, instructor, University of Iowa; formerly of University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill.

Arvid Pardo, professor, University of Southern California.

Fred R. Robertson, professor, Auburn University.

Charles Serns, assistant professor, Stonehill College.

Ira Sharkansky, professor, Hebrew University of Jerusalem.

Gertrude Steuernagel, assistant professor, Kent State University.

Paul Strand, lecturer, San Diego State University.

Ranbir Vohra, Charles A. Dana Professor of Political Science, Trinity College, Connecticut.

Richard F. Weisfelder, assistant professor, University of Toledo; formerly of Iowa State University.

James Winship, instructor, Augustana College; formerly of Johns Hopkins University.

Visiting and Temporary Appointments

Bashiruddin Ahmed, visiting professor, University of Iowa, spring 1976; Centre for the Study of Developing Societies, Delhi.

Nicholas J. Barabolak, professor and chairman, Saint Mary's College, Winona, Minnesota, 1975-76.

Emma Brossard, visiting professor, University of West Florida; formerly of Hillsdale College.

David F. Cusack, visiting assistant professor, University of Colorado.

James Douglas, visiting fellow, Woodrow Wilson School, Princeton University, fall 1975.

Michael H. Glantz, visiting assistant professor, University of Colorado.

Thomas Hone, visiting assistant professor, Southern Illinois University, Carbondale.

Ellen Kennedy, lecturer, University of Manchester, 1975-76.

Russell J. Leng, visiting associate professor, University of Michigan, winter 1976; Middleburg College.

Roy Pierce, visiting professor, Institute of Political Science, University of Oslo, Norway, January to June 1976; University of Michigan.

Mel Ravitz, adjunct professor, University of Michigan, winter 1976.

Herbert H. Werlin, research analyst, Office of Comprehensive Health Planning, Montgomery County, Maryland, 1975-76.

Jerzy Wiatr, visiting professor, University of Michigan, spring 1976; Poland.

Administrative Appointments

Weston H. Agor, personal consultant to Governor William Milliken, State of Michigan, for higher education affairs. David A. Bingham, Director, Bureau of Government Research, West Virginia University; formerly of University of Arizona.

Richard B. Cheney, Chief of Staff, Office of the President of the United States.

Carl Q. Christol, chairman, University of Southern California.

Sharron E. Doerner, Jr., chairman, University of Toledo.

Harvey F. Fireside, head, Ithaca College.

Granville J. Foster, acting head, Columbus College, Georgia.

Martin E. Goldstein, director of Paralegal Studies, Widener College.

Richard A. Hastings, Deputy Assistant Secretary for Legislation (Education), U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

James E. Jarrett, research associate, Council of State Governments; formerly of University of Pennsylvania.

Robert M. Johnson, Chairman, Earlham College.

Gordon W. Keller, associate provost, Kent State University.

R. D. McLaurin, research scientist, Abbott Associates, Inc.; formerly of American Institutes for Research.

Kenneth E. Miller, acting dean, Graduate School of Rutgers University, Newark.

Roy E. Miller, assistant director, Social Science Research Bureau, Southern Illinois University, Carbondale.

Frank P. Scioli, Jr., program manager for Evaluation, National Science Foundation (RANN Division); formerly of University of Illinois, Chicago Circle.

Richard W. Taylor, chairman, Kent State University.

Hugo Trux, staff planner, United Community Council, Columbus, Ohio; formerly of Ohio State University.

Jack R. Van Der Slik, associate dean, College of Liberal Arts, Southern Illinois University, Carbondale.

Thomas J. Williams, coordinator, M.P.A. and Intern Programs, Southwest Texas State University; formerly of Georgia Southwestern College.

Promotions

Abbas Amirie, Kent State University: associate professor.

Jonathan D. Casper, Stanford University: associate professor.

Y. C. Chang, University of Delaware: associate professor.

Henry J. Jacek, McMaster University: associate professor.

Gerald W. Johnson, Auburn University: associate professor.

Michael King, Pennsylvania State University, University Park: associate professor.

Margaret K. Latimer, Auburn University: assistant professor.

William F. Levantrosser, Hofstra University: professor.

Peter R. Manoogian, Pennsylvania State University, Delaware: assistant professor.

Jesse F. Marquette, University of Akron: associate professor.

Marvin Meade, Kent State University: professor.

James A. Nathan, University of Delaware: associate professor.

James K. Oliver, University of Delaware: associate professor.

Jeffrey Orenstein, Kent State University: associate professor.

Peter J. Potichnyj, McMaster University: professor.

Ronald R. Randall, University of Toledo: associate professor.

Charles Redenius, Pennsylvania State University, Behrend College: associate professor.

Marvin L. Rogers, University of Missouri, Columbia: associate professor.

Judson Rosebush, Kent State University: professor.

Paul M. Sniderman, Stanford University: associate professor.

Jose S. Sorzano, Georgetown University: associate professor.

Carl O. Vezner, University of Toledo: associate professor.

Retirements

Martin Chancey, Kent State University, has retired as an associate professor in the Department of Political Science.

Donovan F. Emch, professor emeritus, University of Toledo.

Howard D. Hamilton, Kent State University, has retired after five years as professor of political science to resume farming in Brown County, Indiana.

Correction

In the Fall 1975 PS, the co-author's name of "The Practitioner's Perspective" was misspelled as "Neal." It should have been Marion Neef. PS regrets this error.

In Memoriam

William J. Clark

William J. Clark, Professor of Political Science at St. Mary's College, died July 1, 1975, at the age of 58.

A native of Chester, Iowa, Professor Clark graduated from Cornell College, Mt. Vernon, Iowa in 1936. After a long career in the United States Army he returned to the academic world to complete his graduate work at the University of Nebraska in Political Science in 1967.

While serving in the army as a professional soldier from 1942-63, he attended numerous language and intelligence schools in the United States and overseas. He concentrated on Russian language. For four years, from 1958 until 1961, he served in the Office of Assistant Chief of Staff for Intelligence, where in his capacity as branch chief he supervised eight country desk officers in the production of intelligence studies on Eastern Europe. Before completing his army career he was promoted to commanding officer of Strategic Military Intelligence Department where he supervised, and was responsible for, the research, analysis, writing, editing, production and disseminating of numerous strategic area and country studies. Overseas service included tours of duty and extensive travel in the Philippine Islands, Okinawa, Japan, Korea, Germany and Central Europe.

Just prior to joining the faculty at St. Mary's College in 1967 his interest in civil defense led him throughout the state of Nebraska as speaker and instructor on Civil Defense orientation, organization, administration and operations for local government officials.

His many students in political science were the beneficiaries of this background of travel, experience and administration. His chief interest focused on Southeastern Asian studies, but he also offered courses on state and local government. Students voted him the Best Teacher of the Year award in 1969.

In addition to traditional classwork he served many important committees where his vast experience and personal insights again furthered the interests of the college.

In his spare time he was an active worker in the Republican Party and a member of the La Crosse, Wisconsin chapter of Retired Officers.

Professor Clark's warm personality, his spirit of dedication and his sense of humor will be deeply felt by the administration, faculty, students and staff of St. Mary's College.

Department of Political Science St. Mary's College Winona, Minnesota