Aims and Scope

• Build intelligence about the development, implementation, and evaluation of intervention and community nutrition programs and policies.
• Discourage, debate and influence nutrition-related public policies, including workforce development and educational issues.
• Develop perspectives and models to study diet and nutrition as related to the environment and sustainability.
• Provide papers that are innovative and contribute new knowledge to the literature. Papers should be concise (i.e., usually under 5000 words) and not including the abstract, references, tables, figures and acknowledgements. Short communications (<2000 words) are welcome. We publish research, scholarship, and discussions that make a unique contribution, ideas and suggestions for topics for future are also welcome. We publish special issues.

Discipline of financial support and any competing interests. The submission must include a statement within an Acknowledgements section reporting any competing interests (financial and non-financial), all sources of funding, and the nature of the contribution of each author to the manuscript. If there are no competing interests, this must be stated. Authors are asked to provide this information during the submission process and should not include it as part of the manuscript to allow for double-blind reviewing.

Arrangement of papers

1. Title page should include the article title, author(s), affiliation(s), up to eight keywords, one author identified for correspondence (with full postal address, telephone and fax numbers), and a running title of up to 45 characters. The title page should be submitted online as a separate cover sheet, not as part of the manuscript, to enable double-blind reviewing.

2. Abstract should be structured, usually including the following internal headings: Objective, Design, Setting, Subjects, Results, Conclusions. Abstracts should be intelligible without reference to text or figures and should not exceed 250 words.

3. Text should be divided under headings (typically to include Introduction, Methods, Results, Discussion and Conclusions), and sub-headings as appropriate. Conclusions should include recommendations that derive from the research that are concrete, feasible, and potentially effective. Emphasising that more research is needed is usually not necessary unless there is specific reason to say so. All submissions must include a statement that the research was conducted in accordance with guidelines laid down by the Declaration of Helsinki and approved by an ethical review committee. The research must also be checked externally as necessary to avoid technical errors and to improve salience.

Copyright: At the time of acceptance, authors will be asked to provide a completed copy of the ‘License to Publish’ (in lieu of copyright transfer), available at https://www.nutrition society.org. It is the author’s responsibility to obtain written permission to reproduce any material (including text and figures) that has appeared in another publication.

Preparation of manuscripts: Please refer to the full directions on our website (http://www.nutritionsociety.org). Manuscripts should be in clear and concise English, and spelling should follow the Oxford English Dictionary. For authors whose native tongue is not English, in-house editorial attention to their contributions will improve clarity. On acceptance, all contributions are subject to editorial amendment to conform to house style. Manuscripts should be prepared in a common word processing package (Word for Windows is preferred) in Times New Roman, or other common typeface, prepared with double-spaced text, at least 2 cm margins, and page and line numbers. Standard abbreviations and SI units must be used.

Submission: PHN operates an online submission and reviewing system. Manuscripts should be submitted to http://ms.manuscriptcentral.com. Please contact the Editorial Office on phn.edoffice@cambridge.org regarding any other types of submission.

References: Articles and articles reporting original research are subject to external review by two or more referees who evaluate manuscripts based on their importance, relevance, originality. Authors are asked to suggest names and contact details (including email address) of up to four potential referees. All other contributions (editorials, position papers, invited commentaries, book reviews, and letters to the Editors) undergo an internal review process by at least two members of the editorial team. Manuscripts not appropriate for the Journal may also be checked externally as necessary to avoid technical errors and to improve salience.

Disclosure of financial support and any competing interests. The submission must include a statement within an Acknowledgements section reporting any competing interests (financial and non-financial), all sources of funding, and the nature of the contribution of each author to the manuscript. If there are no competing interests, this must be stated. Authors are asked to provide this information during the submission process and should not include it as part of the manuscript to allow for double-blind reviewing.

Contents

• Original research findings and scientific reviews are published as full papers usually less than 5000 words, not including the abstract, references, tables, figures and acknowledgements.
• Editorials express the opinion of the journal, as represented by its central editorial team, on topics judged by them to be important. Editorials, including guest editorials, are usually co-authored and developed by the editorial team.
• Position papers, including declarations and other statements of policy, may be invited or submitted.
• Invited commentaries and book reviews are expressions of opinion on a topical subject. These are commissioned by the members of the editorial team.
• Letters to the Editors are usually in response to material published in PHN. Submissions are sent to the author for comment and, when possible, published together with the author’s reply.
