

FOREWORD

After three years of invaluable assistance and work, Agata Fijalkowski has resigned as Managing Editor of the Netherlands International Law Review, in order to begin post-doctoral research at the Europa-Universität Viadrina, Frankfurt (Oder), Germany. The Board is extremely grateful to Agata Fijalkowski, for her dedication and commitment to producing a leading journal in the field of international law, and our best wishes go to her in pursuing her academic career. The Board also would like to thank Ms Wilma van Sas-Wildeman, who acted as Managing Editor ad interim in 2001, for her support and dedication. She will remain Secretary to the Board.

The Board welcomes Kristin Henrard as the new Managing Editor of the Netherlands International Law Review. We are confident that the cooperation and good relations of the NILR will be maintained.

The Board of Editors