Leiden Journal of International Law

Firmly established as one of Europe’s leading journals in the field, Leiden Journal of International Law (LJIL) provides a forum for two vital areas, namely international legal theory and international dispute settlement. It is unique in providing the most comprehensive coverage of the world’s most important international tribunals in The Hague and elsewhere (such as the ICC, ICTY, ICTR and others), as well as examining new trends in international legal thinking. LJIL is essential reading for academics and practitioners who need to stay abreast of recent developments in these areas.

SUBSCRIPTIONS
Leiden Journal of International Law (ISSN 0922-1565) is published quarterly in March, June, September, and December. Four parts form a volume. The subscription price which includes delivery by air where appropriate (but excluding VAT) of volume 31 (2018), which includes print and electronic access, is £279.00 (US$435.00 in USA, Canada and Mexico) for institutions; £155.00 (US$230.00 in USA, Canada and Mexico) for individuals, which includes print only. Students ordering direct from the publishers and certifying that the journal is for their personal use can subscribe to the print version at £88.00 (US$134.00 in USA, Canada and Mexico). The electronic-only price available to institutions is £279.00 (US$435.00). Single parts are £69.00 (US$100.00) in the USA (Cambridge and Mexico) plus postage. EU subscribers (outside the UK) who are not registered for VAT should add VAT at their country’s rate. VAT registered members should provide their VAT registration number. EDITORIAL POLICY
Leiden Journal of International Law is firmly established as one of Europe’s leading journals in the field. It provides a forum for two vital areas, namely international legal theory and international dispute settlement. It is unique in providing the most comprehensive coverage of the world’s most important international tribunals in The Hague and elsewhere (such as the ICC, ICTY, ICTR and others), as well as examining new trends in international legal thinking. LJIL is essential reading for academics and practitioners who need to stay abreast of recent developments.

The Editors recommend the following word counts for the journal’s sections: Articles up to 10,000 words, Hague International Tribunals and Current Legal Development up to 8,000 words, Book Reviews up to 1,500 words, and Book Reviews up to 1,200 words.

After receipt, the contribution will be sent for peer review. If the article is considered eligible for publication, any revisions deemed necessary will be sent to the author. The author will be given three weeks to make the necessary changes.

Instructions for contributors

MANUSCRIPT PREPARATION
Copy editing can be a lengthy and complex business, so it is essential that contributors observe the LJIL’s text conventions closely. Typewritten work which do not may be returned for amendment. Contributions should refer to the LJIL’s rules of citation and points of style, which can be found at http://assets.cambridge.org/LJIL/013c.pdf

PROOFS
Proofs may be expected about three months before publication. Only essential typographical or factural errors may be changed at proof stage. Resist the temptation to revise or add to the text. The publisher reserves the right to charge authors for correction of non-typographical errors.

OFFPRINTS
Authors of articles, review essays and book reviews will receive a pdf file of their contribution and a complimentary issue upon publication. Offprints can be purchased if the form is completed and returned to the publisher on receipt of the first proofs.
