NEW SUBSCRIPTION RATES

The Board of Trustees of the Economic History Association has established the following rates for membership:

Institutional members	$20
Regular (individual) members	15
Emeritus members	10
(must have been regular members for ten years)
Student members	5
(not more than three years)

SUBMISSION FEE

Effective January 1, 1977, nonmembers of the Economic History Association are being charged a submission fee of $15.00 for manuscripts submitted to the JOURNAL. The submission fee is applicable to membership.

MANUSCRIPT FLOW

Between July 1, 1975, and June 30, 1976, the editors received one hundred article manuscripts, of which thirteen were definitely accepted for publication and nine others were tentatively accepted pending revisions. Volume XXXVI (1976), exclusive of the Tasks (March) issue, carried seventeen regular articles as well as a number of shorter notes, comments, and review articles. Because of the continued flow of high quality manuscripts, the editors are often obliged to reject potentially publishable articles for lack of space.

REGIONAL ECONOMIC HISTORY RESEARCH CENTER

The Regional Economic History Research Center of the Eleutherian Mills-Hagley Foundation announces an interdisciplinary research program in the economic history of the Mid-Atlantic states, 1750-1850. The project will focus on the transition from the rural, agrarian, settlement era to the early phase of an industrial, urban society, paying particular attention to the social context and consequences of that transition. The Center invites the participation of economic, social, and intellectual historians, as well as historians of science and technology, agriculture, labor, and others. In addition, the Center seeks interested scholars in other disciplines, such as economics, sociology, anthropology, and geography. Researchers will be in residence at the Eleutherian Mills Historical Library. Research stipends include Senior Postdoctoral Fellowships (maximum per academic year, $20,000) and Junior Postdoctoral Fellowships ($15,000 maximum). In addition, for both postdoctoral and predoctoral researchers, the Center offers grants for stays of less than one semester, as well as summer stipends. These grants are available from July 1, 1977, through June 30, 1980. This project is supported by a grant from the National Endowment for the Humanities. Applications may be submitted at any time after January 1, 1977, but those wishing to begin research before October 1977 should complete the application process by April 15, 1977. TRANSLATIONS INFORMATION STUDY FOR HUMANITIES

A grant of $15,230 has been made by the National Endowment for the Humanities to the John Crerar Library, Chicago, Illinois, to investigate the feasibility of a translations information center for the humanities. The objectives are to determine the amount of translating from other languages into English now being carried on, where such translating is being done, availability of the translations, the need in various humanistic disciplines for such an information clearinghouse, and the cooperation likely to be forthcoming for the establishment and operation of a center. Cost estimates and plan of operation of a prototype center will be projected. Persons desiring further information or wishing to participate in the study may contact William S. Budington, Executive Director and Librarian, John Crerar Library, 35 West 33rd Street, Chicago, IL 60616. Telephone (312) 225 2526.

The Fellow's doctoral degree may be in history, economics, or a related discipline such as sociology. The successful applicant will be asked to participate in the School's business history course and seminar and take at least one other formal course of instruction based on his particular needs or interests. He will also be expected to take part during the academic year in some aspect of the Business History Group's activity such as assisting in the publication of the Business History Review. Final applications should be accompanied by graduate school records, letters from three persons in support of the application, and such other evidence as the applicant wishes to submit.

The selection committee, which will be composed of faculty members of the Harvard Business School, will interview candidates where possible and will make its award to the applicant whose background and plans seem most likely to benefit from the resources offered. The successful applicant may begin his twelve months' residence on either July 1 or September 1, 1977.

Applications must be completed by April 1, 1976. The Fellowship will be awarded and all applicants notified by April 15, 1977. Material submitted with the application will be returned only if accompanied by postage and a self-addressed return envelope.
