The recognition and appropriate management of BPSD are important factors in improving our care of dementia patients and their caregivers. The IPA Complete Guides to Behavioral and Psychological Symptoms of Dementia (BPSD) are comprehensive resources that provide a useful overview of the presentation and causes of BPSD and offer constructive guidance on treatment interventions.

- Designed to serve as a reference tool or as a training resource
- Modules can be used alone or together in a tailored approach to create your own customized program.
- IPA Members have exclusive complete access to the comprehensive online collection of BPSD resources

*As an IPA Member, you have access to the IPA Complete Guides to BPSD online at no additional charge!
Why wait until the next conference when you can join or start a discussion with colleagues right now?

Through the IPA Member Forums, you can discuss important research and care issues such as International Psychogeriatrics articles, share resources or exchange ideas on whatever has captured your interest with your colleagues in this new IPA online community.

As a member of the International Psychogeriatric Association (IPA), you will have access to the IPA Member Forums and be able to join member colleagues to discuss and improve elderly care through online groups … anytime from wherever you or they might be.

Communication and Collaboration – the Heart of the IPA Community

- Interact anytime and anywhere with IPA colleagues
- Share research, documents and ideas
- Participate in discussions
- Collaborate in member groups, such as…

Compact, accessible and affordable

Each chapter is sharp, clear and practical, enhanced by tables and diagrams for quick assimilation and reference on the ward or in the clinic.

Coverage also includes legal and ethical issues, and the neglected topic of alcohol and drug abuse in the elderly.

Scope and contributions
International Psychogeriatrics is written by and for those doing clinical, teaching, and research work with older people. It is the official journal of the International Psychogeriatric Association (IPA) and is published by Cambridge University Press, Cambridge, UK. Although it is primarily concerned with psychogeriatrics, the journal welcomes contributions from all concerned with the field of mental health and aging. Original research papers are particularly sought.

Contributions include original research articles, case reports, reviews of the literature, book reviews, letters to the editor, and editorials. Apart from editorial and book reviews, which are commissioned, contributions to International Psychogeriatrics are spontaneously written and submitted by authors. Papers are reviewed by two expert reviewers selected by the Editor-in-Chief. At present, about half of the papers submitted are accepted for publication. The journal’s Science Citation Index impact factor is 1.95 (2014). Submission of a paper implies that it is not under consideration for publication elsewhere, nor previously published in English. Manuscripts must be formatted double-spaced with ample margins in all styles and the papers should be numbered. International Psychogeriatrics uses the spelling of American English.
