Psychological Medicine is a leading international journal in the fields of psychiatry, related aspects of psychology and basic sciences. There are twelve issues a year, each featuring original articles reporting key research being undertaken worldwide, together with shorter editorials by distinguished scholars and an important book review section. The journal's success is clearly demonstrated by a consistently high impact factor.

Editor

Martha Crago, Université de Montréal, Canada

Applied Psycholinguistics publishes original research papers on the psychological processes involved in language. It examines language development and disorders in adults and children with and without developmental disabilities. Articles in Applied Psycholinguistics address the nature, acquisition, and impairments of language expression and comprehension, including writing and reading. This journal collects the best work from across linguistics, psychology, reading, education, language learning, sociology, speech and hearing, and neurology.
