The Political Economy of Co-operation and Participation

A Third Sector

Edited by Alasdair Clayre

The need to find a solution to the problems of industry in Britain and elsewhere in the Western world is becoming increasingly important. The search for viable alternatives is leading towards the possibility of a 'third sector', distinct from private industry and from public nationalized enterprise. In a 'third sector' firm those who do the work have property rights over plant and premises, appoint the management in whose quality and success they have a direct interest, and take responsibility for financial loss and gain. Small businesses or large businesses broken into smaller profit-centres will probably adjust most readily to these principles of organization, but it is argued that there is considerable scope for the extension of participation and value-added sharing in private and state enterprises and the balance of the arguments presented suggests that this would be the most positive approach for industry to take. £10

The City Take-over Code

Sir Alexander Johnston

The post-war development of take-overs and mergers which led to a general demand for control over some of the techniques employed is described in this book. The author outlines the successes and occasional failures of the City take-over code in grappling with changing techniques and economic conditions. 'A masterly compilation of the case studies from which the present City Code evolved. . . . Sir Alexander's dry and delicate summaries of the titanic battles of the past . . . should be compulsory reading for any newcomer to the corporate finance departments of City merchant banks and stockbroking firms.' Financial Times. £20

Tourism, Passport to Development

Emanuel Jehuda de Kadt

This is the first book of its kind seriously to consider the different ramifications of tourism development. Although it focuses on the social and cultural aspects which planners and policy makers often fail to examine, it does not neglect economic questions. £5.95 paper covers £2.50

SOCIAL ADMINISTRATION ASSOCIATION

The Association exists for those whose work consists mainly of teaching or research in the fields of Social Administration and Social Policy. It was formed some years ago to enable staff from universities, polytechnics, technical and other colleges, independent and Government research organisations to meet and discuss matters of common interest.

The Association acts as a representative of its members and of Social Administration through contacts with the Social Science Research Council, the Council for National Academic Awards and the Business Education Council.

The Association has specialist groups which meet to discuss the teaching of social policy and public expenditure and social policy.

The Association holds an Annual Conference. The 1981 conference will be from 14th to 16th July in Leeds. The theme will be 'Theory and Social Policy'.

The current membership subscription is £21.00 per calendar year; this includes the subscription to the Association's Journal, the Journal of Social Policy (four issues per year).

R. J. BENNETT THE GEOGRAPHY
FINANCE

The subject of public finance is one of particular relevance to Western countries in the 1980s. Urban fiscal crises, popular demands for taxation cuts and the need for public expenditure control will provoke intense debate.

In this authoritative study, R. J. Bennett addresses himself to the 'geography' of public finance, examining who receives what benefit, where, and at what cost, from the social services. He adopts an integrated approach to taxes, benefits and intergovernmental grants, drawing empirical examples from a wide range of countries including the USA, UK, Canada, Australia and the nations of Europe.

Comparative Studies in Society and History

Edited by

RAYMOND GREW

Professor of History, University of Michigan

ERIC R. WOLF

Professor of Anthropology

Herbert H. Lehman College, City University of New York

Comparative Studies in Society and History is a truly international forum of social analysis. It publishes the work of authors from throughout the world in many disciplines.

In each issue, articles on a particular question are grouped together to stimulate comparison of diverse cases. Recent volumes have provided a continuing dialogue on such topics as political mobilization, peasants, social convergence, fertility, revolution, African slavery, communal politics, domestic violence, methodology, religious movements, women's roles, education, the function of cities, bureaucracy, colonialism, migration, charisma and political cartoons. The cases studied range from pre-history to the present and treat dozens of countries.

In addition to original articles, CSSH publishes review essays and brief notices of books, journals and events of importance to students of human society.

Selected contents of Volume 23 Number 1 January 1981:

Angus McLaren: A Prehistory of the Social Sciences: Phrenology in France

Ellen Ross and Rayna Rapp: Sex and Society: A Research Note from Social History and Anthropology

Peter Rigby: Pastors and Pastoralists: The Differential Penetration of Christianity among East African Cattle Herders

Judith Shapiro: Ideologies of Catholic Missionary Practice in a Postcolonial Era

Edward L. Schieffelin: Evangelical Rhetoric and the Transformation of Traditional Culture in Papua New Guinea

Volume 23 (1981) £23.00/$49.50 per year

£12.50/$25.00 per year for individuals

Notes for Contributors

1. All contributions and correspondence should be sent to: The Editor, Journal of Social Policy, PSSRU, Cornwallis Building, The University, Canterbury, Kent, CT2 7NF. All books for review should be sent to: The Review Editor, Journal of Social Policy, Department of Sociology and Social Administration, University of Southampton, Highfield, Southampton SO9 5NH.
2. Articles should generally contain between 5,000 and 10,000 words including footnotes, although longer or shorter articles may be accepted by arrangement with the editor. Short articles stand a better chance of early publication.
3. Submission of an article is taken to imply that it has not previously been published, or is not being considered for publication elsewhere. If an author is publishing a related article elsewhere, this fact should be stated.
4. Contributions (articles, review articles, reviews) should be clearly typed on one side of the paper only using a conventional size of paper, preferably A4. All material should be typed double-spaced with generous margins. Contributors should send two copies and keep one copy of the typescript for correcting proofs.
5. Contributions should be accompanied by an abstract of between one and two hundred words, and a title page providing information about the position/s held by the author/s and giving full details of any acknowledgements.
6. Manuscripts will not be accepted for publication unless they conform to the usual journal style. Contributors are advised to look through earlier issues of the journal for general guidance, although a brief style sheet is available from the editor upon request. Particular attention should be made to the journal requirements about references and tables.
7. References to books and articles should include the following details: in the case of books, the full title and author or authors, place of publication, publisher and date; in the case of articles, the title and author or authors, full name of the journal, volume, year and page reference (first and last page). References and other footnotes should be numbered consecutively throughout and typed separately at the end of the article.
8. Tables should be clearly laid out and designed to fit on to a page 234 mm × 155 mm. Vertical lines between columns should be omitted, and horizontal lines limited to the top and bottom of the table, with an additional one below the column headings. Totals and percentages should be labelled, and units identified.
9. First proofs may be read and corrected by contributors provided that they can give the editor an address through which they can be reached without delay and can guarantee to return the corrected proofs to the editor, by airmail where appropriate, within seven days of receiving them. The master proof will always be sent direct to the editor by the printer; contributors will receive duplicates.
10. Authors of articles and review articles (but not book reviews) receive twenty-five free offprints. Additional copies may be bought if ordered at proof stage.
11. Contributors of accepted articles will be asked to assign their copyright, on certain conditions, to Cambridge University Press, to help protect their material, particularly in the USA.
