The British Journal of Nutrition is an international, peer-reviewed journal publishing original papers, review articles, short communications and technical notes on basic, clinical, animal nutrition and basic science applied to nutrition. Correspondence is encouraged in a Nutrition Discussion Forum. The Journal recognizes the multidisciplinary nature of nutritional science and encourages the submission of all of its specialties involved in research and clinical practice. The Journal also publishes supplements on topics of particular interest.

The British Journal of Nutrition is published twice monthly by Cambridge University Press on behalf of the Nutrition Society.

The British Journal of Nutrition is available online to subscribers at journals.cambridge.org/bjn

Tables of contents and abstracts are available free at the same website.

The Nutrition Society has as its objective the advancement of the scientific study of nutrition and its applications to the maintenance of human and animal health.

Application of membership is invited from anyone whose work has contributed to the scientific knowledge of nutrition, whether each work has been in the laboratory, the field or the clinic, and who either experimental, clinical, agricultural or medical in character. There is also a student membership scheme with reduced subscriptions.

Participation of The Society and application forms for membership are available from The Nutrition Society, 10 Cambridge Court, 210 Shapps Bush Road, London W6 7NJ, UK; Tel: +44 (0)20 7602 1756, Fax: +44 (0)20 7602 1754, Email: of@nutritionssociety.org.
