AGRONOMY JOURNAL

Agronomists throughout the world have found the Agronomy Journal, monthly publication and official organ of the American Society of Agronomy, a source of up-to-date reports on agronomic research. Workers in the fields of forages and pastures, small grain improvement, corn, fibre crops and legumes, cultural practices, and soil fertility, as well as closely allied fields of investigation find articles of lasting interest in the Agronomy Journal. Publication is open to members of the American Society of Agronomy.

Non-member subscriptions:

$14.00 per year, U.S. and Canada.

$15.00 per year elsewhere.

ANIMAL PRODUCTION

JOURNAL OF THE BRITISH SOCIETY OF ANIMAL PRODUCTION

Contents of Volume 2, No. 1, March 1960

BLAXTER, COWLISHAW and ROOK. Potassium and hypomagnesaemic tetany in calves.

DASSAT and SARTORE. Effect of inbreeding on lamb weights of Sardinian sheep.

KING and ROBERTS. Carcass length and vertebrae number in the bacon pig.

PRESTON, GREENHALGH and MACLEOD. Effect of hexoestrol on ram, wether and female lambs.

BURGESS and LAMMING. Effect of hormones on fattening lambs and hoggets.

BURGESS and LAMMING. Effect of diethylstilboestrol, hexoestrol and testosterone on fattening beef steers.

WATSON. Milk yield and butterfat percentage in twin and single-born cattle.

PRESTON, AITKEN, MACLEOD, MACDIARMID and ROSEN. Effects of hydroxyzine dihydrochloride on fattening cattle.

PRESTON, RATTRAY and WHITE. Feeding formalin-treated skim milk to calves.

HODGES and O'CONNOR. An investigation into self-feed silage practices.

CRICHTON, AITKEN and BOYNE. Effect of plane of nutrition on dairy cattle.

This journal is a continuation and expansion of the Proceedings of the British Society of Animal Production (1951-8) and appears twice a year in March and September. The annual subscription is 30s. ($5.00 in U.S.A. and CANADA), single parts 17s. 6d. ($2.75 in U.S.A. and CANADA) net. Orders and subscriptions should be sent to:

JOURNAL OF REPRODUCTION AND FERTILITY

The Journal will publish original papers, abstracts of Proceedings, and occasionally reviews and bibliographies dealing with the morphology, physiology, biochemistry and pathology of reproduction in man and other animals, and with the biological, medical and veterinary problems of fertility. Numbers will be issued quarterly to give one volume per year, until the flow of material necessitates greater frequency.

Protective Measures

In the citrus groves of California, plump and colourful fruits ripen in the sunlight that pours upon them — fruit from trees free from the attack of Tylenchulus semipenetrans, a pest found wherever citrus is grown. Where the citrus nematode is uncontrolled it restricts root and shoot growth, weakens trees and reduces the size and yield of fruit — damage often referred to as “slow decline”. Replanting does not help, for it is the soil itself that is infested.

Consequently, California fruit-growers have given a ready welcome to Nemagon, the Shell soil fumigant that can be used after planting as well as before. Applied at low dosage rates around the roots of bearing trees, Nemagon has effectively controlled the citrus nematode and increased fruit yields by up to 20%.

This story has been repeated in other parts of the world on grape, strawberry, olive, peach, walnut, fig, banana, pineapple and many ornamental crops, all of which have benefited from Nemagon. Ask your Shell Company for full details of this and the other Shell pesticides.
