Aims & Scope

Management and Organization Review (MOR) is the premier journal for ground-breaking insights about management and organizations in China and global comparative contexts. MOR is a far reaching multidisciplinary social science journal that seeks to publish papers that test theory, develop indigenous theories, explore interesting phenomena or research questions, replicates prior studies always in the context of transforming economies. MOR welcomes papers from diverse social science disciplines such as organization behavior, organization theory, strategic management, economics, economic geography, innovation theories, anthropology, political science, cross - cultural, and social psychology, international business, sociology, cognitive science, and institutional theory.

International Association for Chinese Management Research (IACMR)

Management and Organization Review (MOR) is the official journal of the IACMR, jointly sponsored by Fudan University and Peking University. The IACMR is an academic organization that serves scholars, students, managers, and consultants who are interested in advancing their knowledge about organizational management in the Chinese context. The primary goal of the association is to promote organization and management research in such a context. Since then, the Association has experienced rapid growth with the support of our members and sponsors. In our membership management system, we have now over 10,000 registered contacts from almost 100 countries. IACMR has been recognized as the most authoritative, world-class academic research organization in the area of Chinese management. For more information see iacmr.org
