Contents

EDITORIAL
167 Editors’ note

ARTICLES
169 Markets in pre-industrial societies: storage in Hellenistic Babylonia in the medieval English mirror
Bas van Leeuwen, Peter Foldvari and Reinhard Pirngruber

195 The hybrid military establishment of the East India Company in South Asia: 1750–1849
Koushi Roy

219 Editorial – The transnational history of international institutions
Glenda Sluga

223 Transnational intellectual cooperation, the League of Nations and the problem of order
Daniel Laqua

249 Development advisors in a time of cold war and decolonisation: the United Nations Technical Assistance
Administration, 1950–59
David Webster

273 Algeria, France, Mexico, UNESCO: a transnational history of anti-racism and decolonization, 1932–1962
Todd Shepard

DISCUSSION — GLOBAL MIGRATION
299 From mobility transition to comparative global migration history
Jan Luccassen and Leo Lucassen

309 Different transitions: comparing China and Europe, 1600–1900
Adam McKeown

321 From regional to global repertoires of migration
Leslie Page Moch

327 Quantifying mobility in early modern Europe: the challenge of concepts and data
Josef Ehmer

339 Some considerations about the link between economic development and migration
Jelle van Lottum

REVIEW ARTICLE
345 Ottomans in early modern global history
Sam White

351 REVIEWS
Journal of Global History

Journal of Global History is published by Cambridge University Press for the London School of Economics and Political Science. Journal of Global History is indexed and abstracted in the following Thomson-Reuters products: Current Contents®/Social and Behavioral Sciences, Current Contents®/Arts and Humanities, Current Contents®/Life Sciences; EMBASE/Excerpta Medica, Index Medicus/Medscape/ MEDLINE. The journal also publishes survey articles, think-pieces based on a historical perspective and empirical research. The journal is included in the ISI Web of Science: Social Sciences Citation Index.

Instructions to Contributors

Editorial Policy
The Journal of Global History seeks scholarly articles that are of genuine interest to a wide readership, and that use historical imagination, the journal particularly welcomes contributions from Asia, Africa and Latin America. The editors approach refereeing from both senior figures in the field and younger scholars seeking more detailed research in a wider context. The journal also publishes survey articles, think-pieces and selected book reviews. The advantage of the journal is to encourage disciplined diversity, disciplined through rigorous peer review, and to present authors in a position of voice. Every yearly volume of the journal consists of three parts.

Reviews of books: The journal only publishes reviews that centrally address problems of global history. Publishers are invited to send reviews to the Reviews Editor. Authors who are invited to write reviews must provide a separate list of books for which they would like to be considered.

Submission
1. Submission

Electronic submissions are welcomed. Please submit electronic files as a single MS Word document. Authors are advised to use only single-spaced text, and to use one column only for their articles. Please ensure that footnotes and endnotes are numbered consecutively. A title page (including the names of all authors) is required. The title page should include the full title of the article, the author’s name, institutional affiliation, and the complete mailing address. The title page should not exceed 1,000 words.

Abstracts
An abstract of no more than 250 words should be provided. Abstracts are not to be included in the table of contents. Authors are advised to use only single-spaced text, and to use one column only for their articles. Please ensure that footnotes and endnotes are numbered consecutively. A title page (including the names of all authors) is required. The title page should include the full title of the article, the author’s name, institutional affiliation, and the complete mailing address. The title page should not exceed 1,000 words.

Footnotes
Footnotes should be numbered consecutively and appear at the end of the page, not at the bottom of the page. The footnotes should be double-spaced and use one column only for their articles. Please ensure that footnotes and endnotes are numbered consecutively. A title page (including the names of all authors) is required. The title page should include the full title of the article, the author’s name, institutional affiliation, and the complete mailing address. The title page should not exceed 1,000 words.

Endnotes
Endnotes should be numbered consecutively and appear at the end of the page, not at the bottom of the page. The endnotes should be double-spaced and use one column only for their articles. Please ensure that footnotes and endnotes are numbered consecutively. A title page (including the names of all authors) is required. The title page should include the full title of the article, the author’s name, institutional affiliation, and the complete mailing address. The title page should not exceed 1,000 words.

Tables
Tables should be placed at the end of the article, and should appear on a separate page. Each table should be provided with a title, and the title should be included in the table of contents. Each table should be double-spaced and use one column only for their articles. Please ensure that footnotes and endnotes are numbered consecutively. A title page (including the names of all authors) is required. The title page should include the full title of the article, the author’s name, institutional affiliation, and the complete mailing address. The title page should not exceed 1,000 words.

References
References should be numbered consecutively and appear at the end of the page, not at the bottom of the page. The references should be double-spaced and use one column only for their articles. Please ensure that footnotes and endnotes are numbered consecutively. A title page (including the names of all authors) is required. The title page should include the full title of the article, the author’s name, institutional affiliation, and the complete mailing address. The title page should not exceed 1,000 words.

Internet references
Internet references are included in the table of contents. The references should be double-spaced and use one column only for their articles. Please ensure that footnotes and endnotes are numbered consecutively. A title page (including the names of all authors) is required. The title page should include the full title of the article, the author’s name, institutional affiliation, and the complete mailing address. The title page should not exceed 1,000 words.

Copyright
Copyright in all articles is vested in the authors, but all rights are reserved on all parts of the article. Authors should check the author’s agreement, which can be found in the journal’s homepage.

Reprints
Reprints of all articles may be ordered by e-mail from reprints@journals.cambridge.org. Authors are encouraged to ensure that reprints are made available to colleagues and libraries.

Proofs
Proofs are sent to authors for correction in triplicate, but only one set need be returned. No pages may be added or deleted from the proofs. Authors are responsible for ensuring that all corrections are completed on the proofs. Correspondence for proofs will be handled by the journal’s production unit.

Publication Schedule
The journal is published four times a year, in March, June, September and December.

Publication Charges
The cost of publication of each article will be borne by the author(s). The cost will be accompanied by a statement of the amount charged.

Supplementary Material
The journal welcomes the submission of electronic supplementary material, including audio and video files. The journal also welcomes the submission of multimedia files, including interactive tables and figures. The journal also welcomes the submission of interactive tables and figures. The journal also welcomes the submission of multimedia files, including interactive tables and figures. The journal also welcomes the submission of multimedia files, including interactive tables and figures.

International Classification of Diseases
The International Classification of Diseases is used for the classification of diseases and injuries. The classification is based on the International Classification of Diseases, 10th Revision, which is the latest edition of the classification. The classification is updated regularly to reflect changes in the classification. The classification is used by all health professionals and researchers worldwide.

Human Rights
The journal’s Human Rights Policy is available on the journal’s website. The policy outlines the journal’s commitment to promoting human rights and ethical standards in research.

Institutional Access
The journal is available to institutional subscribers through Cambridge Journals Online. The subscription includes access to all articles and supplements from the journal’s inception.

Regional Issues
The journal welcomes articles that address regional issues, including but not limited to: the Middle East, Africa, Latin America, and Asia. The journal also welcomes articles that address global issues, including but not limited to: climate change, conflict, and terrorism.

Research on Historical Events
The journal encourages research on historical events, including but not limited to: World War II, the Cold War, and the Cold War in Eastern Europe. The journal also encourages research on the Cold War in Asia.

Scholarly Communication
The journal promotes scholarly communication through the use of online resources, including but not limited to: digital libraries, open access, and peer review.

Social Media
The journal uses social media to promote its content and to engage with its readers. The journal also encourages its readers to use social media to share articles and other content.

Subscriptions
Subscriptions to the Journal of Global History can be obtained through Cambridge University Press. The subscription includes access to all articles and supplements from the journal’s inception.

Tables of Contents
Tables of contents are available for all issues of the journal. The tables of contents include the titles of all articles and supplements, along with the authors’ names and affiliations.

Acknowledgments
The journal acknowledges the contributions of its reviewers and editors.

Copyright Notice
Copyright is reserved on all articles and supplements from the journal’s inception. Reproduction, distribution, or republication of any part of the journal’s content is prohibited without the written permission of the publisher.

Reprints
Reprints of all articles may be ordered by e-mail from reprints@journals.cambridge.org. Authors are encouraged to ensure that reprints are made available to colleagues and libraries.

Proofs
Proofs are sent to authors for correction in triplicate, but only one set need be returned. No pages may be added or deleted from the proofs. Authors are responsible for ensuring that all corrections are completed on the proofs. Correspondence for proofs will be handled by the journal’s production unit.

Publication Schedule
The journal is published four times a year, in March, June, September and December.

Publication Charges
The cost of publication of each article will be borne by the author(s). The cost will be accompanied by a statement of the amount charged.

Supplementary Material
The journal welcomes the submission of electronic supplementary material, including audio and video files. The journal also welcomes the submission of multimedia files, including interactive tables and figures. The journal also welcomes the submission of multimedia files, including interactive tables and figures.