NOTES TO CONTRIBUTORS

The Editor welcomes contributions on all aspects and periods of the history of architecture. Proposals should in the first instance be e-mailed to her at loachj@cf.ac.uk. Papers (2 copies) should be sent to Dr Judi Loach, Welsh School of Architecture, Bute Building, King Edward VII Avenue, Cardiff, Wales, CF10 3NB. It is recommended that illustrations should be sent in the first instance as photocopies. Notes on the Society's preferred methods of presentation are available from the Editor on request.

Those sending papers which they wish to be returned are requested to enclose a self-addressed envelope with sufficient stamps to cover return postage or, in the case of overseas contributors, international postage coupons.

ARCHITECTURAL HISTORY ON-LINE

The Society is very pleased to announce that back issues of Architectural History are available for consultation on-line through JSTOR, the not-for-profit American company. Our journal has joined JSTOR's electronic, digital archive, which already includes many periodicals of relevance to the study of the history of architecture. Ease of access to back issues of specific journals and the ability to word search across different journals that have published work in architectural history greatly facilitates scholarship in our field.
