Utilitas
Volume 7 Number 2 November 1995

CONTENTS

Editorial

Articles

Justice, Desert, and the Repugnant Conclusion
    Fred Feldman 189
Taking Justice Too Seriously     Peter Vallentyne 207
Nihilism and Scepticism About Moral Obligations
    Walter Sinnott-Armstrong 217
Justification, Scepticism, and Nihilism     Simon Blackburn 237
Unknowable Obligations     Roy Sorensen 247
Sorensen on Unknowable Obligations     Theodore Sider 273
Monkeying with Motives: Agent-Basing Virtue Ethics
    Julia Driver 281
Moral Character and the Iteration Problem
    Garrett Cullity 289
The Importance of Being Important: Euthanasia and Critical Interests in Dworkin's Life's Dominion
    David Mitchell 301

Discussions

Skorupski on Agent-Neutrality     John Broome 315
Agent-Relativity and Terminological Inexactitudes
    David McNaughton and Piers Rawling 319

Reviews

Thomas Hurka, Perfectionism     D. A. Lloyd Thomas 327
Peter Singer, ed., A Companion to Ethics and
    Peter Singer, ed., Ethics     S. E. Marshall 329
David Papineau, Philosophical Naturalism     N. J. H. Dent 332
Jules L. Coleman and Allen Buchanan, eds., In Harm's Way:
     Essays in Honor of Joel Feinberg     Dudley Knowles 334
Richard Norman, Ethics, Killing and War
    Andrew Linklater 337
Nicholas Rescher, Pluralism: Against the Demand for Consensus     S. O'Neill 340
Ross Harrison, Democracy     Anthony Arblaster 343

Announcements

346