

WORLDVIEW

---

THE INSIGNIFICANT DEATH OF STANISLAW PYJAS

THOMAS C. FRANCO

ETHICS & THE PRESENT CLASS STRUGGLE

PETER L. BERGER

A VOICE OF THE EGYPTIAN LEFT

Interview with Mohamed Sid-Ahmed

MARK BRUZONSKY & JUDITH KIPPER

DEEPENING SHADOWS OVER A FRAGILE DEMOCRACY

CONSTANTINE C. MENGES

CHRIST IN CHINA

MIRIAM & IVAN D. LONDON

THE FATAL ASSUMPTIONS OF SOCIAL THERAPY

L.H. GANN

Dictatorship over the Proletariat

VLADIMIR BUKOVSKY

THE CHINA OF HUA KUO-FENG

STEPHEN FITZGERALD

THE STORY OF AID

CSANAD TOTH

AUTOBIOGRAPHY & POLITICS

STANLEY HAUERWAS

& PAUL RAMSEY, JAMES T. JOHNSON, DAVID STERN, WERNER COHN,
PETER LAMBORN WILSON, FREDERICK C. DYER, TOM CORNELL,
THEODORE MICHAEL KERRINE, ABRAHAM MARTIN MURRAY, WOLFGANG J. KOSCHNICK

---

COMING

- Ten years ago the religious communities of America joined to confront injustices of our society. Today they often separately confront each other. One of the issues on which Jews and some Christians confront each other, for example, is the missionary enterprise. In the past American Jews properly regarded efforts to convert them as marginal and relatively unimportant. Today, particularly among the evangelicals, the missionary impulse is strong and Jews are reacting equally strongly. Rabbi Balfour Brickner, Director of the Department of Interreligious Affairs for the Union of American Hebrew Congregations, examines this issue and makes some clear recommendations. Incisive and provocative.
- "Writing about fascism can get one into trouble," says Anthony James Joes—and then plunges boldly ahead to discuss fascism in the Third World. After offering a working definition of fascism, and stating that the terms Left and Right have become a substitute for thought—obscuring the appearance of different fascisms—Joes describes different regimes around the world. His conclusion? Fascism is reappearing in the developing world. Joes's future, based on this article? Trouble, interrupted with rays of light.

FOUNDED IN 1914 BY ANDREW CARNEGIE