Information for authors

The Australian Journal of Guidance and Counselling is published by the Australian Guidance and Counselling Association Ltd. It presents articles of relevance to all areas of educational guidance and counselling. Papers address practical, research and professional issues, and book and test reviews are welcome.

Instructions for the preparation of manuscripts are similar to those outlined in the Australian Journal of Psychology. In summary there should be:

- a separate title page with title of paper, names and positions of author/s and contact address for reprints
- an abstract delineated from the main text
- diagrams and figures of professional quality
- references as in the Manual of the American Psychological Association (see examples in this or other editions of the journal)
- tables and figures one to a page at the end of the article with notation in the text as to the appropriate placement
- spelling should conform to the Macquarie Dictionary

Initially three copies should be sent typed on A4 paper. These will be forwarded to reviewers. If accepted the final paper should be presented with two paper copies and a copy on each of two disks, in Word for Windows or Word for Mac.

Submissions are due by July 13 (for publication in November).

Contributors of accepted articles will receive a complimentary copy of the Journal and a copy of their paper for reprints.

Copyright

Copyright to authored material published in the Australian Journal of Guidance and Counselling rests with the author(s) unless it has been commissioned by the association.

Advertisements

Advertisements for conferences, publications or professional services may be accepted for the Journal. Rates are available on request from the editor.
