Journal of French Language Studies

Notes for Contributors

Contributions should be submitted at:

http://mc.manuscriptcentral.com/jfl

Correspondence regarding editorial policy may be sent to:

Professor Julia Herschensohn
Department of Linguistics
University of Washington, Box 352425
Seattle WA 98195-2425
USA

E-Mail: jfls@u.washington.edu

Inquiries regarding material for review and review copy should be sent to: jfls@u.washington.edu

The languages of the journal are French and English. Contributors should submit articles and reviews in the language they are most comfortable with.

Submission of an article is taken to imply that it has not been previously published, and has not been submitted for publication elsewhere.

COPYRIGHT
Authors are responsible for obtaining necessary permissions to quote copyrighted material. They will be requested to sign a license to publish with Cambridge University Press.

PREPARATION OF MANUSCRIPTS

1. Articles should be submitted in Microsoft Word or Rich Text format (.rtf ) at:
http://mc.manuscriptcentral.com/jfl.

2. JFLS carries out double-blind peer-review and manuscripts should be completely anonymous. Any acknowledgements or other self-identifying material should be removed from the article itself but may be included in a separate document or a covering email, if desired.

3. Journal articles should normally be between 6000 and 8000 words, not including references. Authors should indicate the approximate number of words at the end of their text. Instructions for authors of reviews are contained in a separate document.

4. All copy must be double-spaced throughout on A4 paper (or equivalent), with margins of at least 4 cm (1.5 inches).

5. Each article must be accompanied by an abstract not exceeding 200 words summarizing the conceptual content.

6. In both articles and reviews, all paragraphs except the first should be indented. There should be no blank line between paragraphs. Paragraphs should not be individually numbered.

7. Quotations should be marked by single inverted commas, with double inverted commas reserved for quotations within quotations. Quotations longer than about 60 words should be set off from the text and indented from the left-hand margin, without inverted commas.

8. Tables, charts, and diagrams should appear throughout the main text in the author's recommended locations. Please note that when an article is prepared for publication, locations may be adjusted to accommodate layout requirements at the discretion of the typesetters. Tables, charts and diagrams (though not simple rules, examples or formulae) must be labelled 'Figure 2', 'Table 4', as appropriate. In-text references should use the same number, and never an expression like 'see the following diagram'.

9. Phonetic transcriptions should, wherever possible, make use of the symbols of the International Phonetic Alphabet, and should be no 'narrower' than is absolutely necessary for the purpose.

10. Sexist and other offensive language should be avoided.

11. Charges apply for all colour figures that appear in the print version of the journal. At the time of submission, contributors should clearly state whether their figures should appear in colour in the online version only, or whether they should appear in colour online and in the print version. There is no charge for including colour figures in the online version of the Journal but it must be clear that colour is needed to enhance the meaning of the figure, rather than simply being for aesthetic purposes. If you request colour figures in the printed version, you will be contacted by CCC-Rightslink who are acting on our behalf to collect Author Charges. Please follow their instructions in order to avoid any delay in the publication of your article.

12. When an article has been accepted for publication, authors are asked to send an electronic copy of the final version in Microsoft Word or Rich Text format, together with a .pdf version identical in all respects to the electronic version. However, the publisher reserves the right to typeset material by conventional means if an author's electronic version proves unsatisfactory.

13. Typescripts, whether of articles or reviews, should be definitive, and author's revisions may not be made at proof stage.

14. Authors whose articles deal with second language acquisition might want to consider uploading their data collection materials to the IRIS database. IRIS (Instruments for Research into Second Languages) is an online repository for data collection materials used for second language research. This includes data elicitation instruments such as interview and observation schedules, language tests, pictures, questionnaires, software scripts, URLs, word lists, teaching intervention activities, amongst many other types of materials used to elicit data. Please see www.iris-database.org for more information and to upload.

15. Competing interests declaration: Authors should include a competing interests declaration at the end of the manuscripts they submit. However, if a declaration contains identifiable information, authors should include their declaration in a separate document or covering email – to preserve the anonymity of their manuscript. This declaration will be subject to editorial review and may be published in the article. Competing interests are situations that could be perceived to exert an undue influence on the content or publication of an author's work. They may include, but are not limited to, financial, professional, contractual or personal relationships or situations. If the manuscript has multiple authors, the author submitting must include competing interest declarations relevant to all contributing authors. Example wording for a declaration is as follows: "Competing interests: Author A is employed at company B. Author C owns shares in company D, is on the Board of company E and is a member of organisation F. Author G has received grants from company H." If no competing interests exist, the declaration should state "Competing interests: The author(s) declare none".

CITATIONS

1. Footnotes should as far as possible be avoided.

2. Citations in the body of the text should give author's surname, date of publication and page number in parentheses, as in (Dupont, 2002: 56-58). Where a second or subsequent work by a particular author in the same year is cited, references should be distinguished by letters (a, b, c) placed after the date. Multiple references should be ordered chronologically and separated by semicolons. Co-authors should be indicated by 'and' and not by '&'.

3. The complete list of references cited, arranged alphabetically by first author's surname should be typed double-spaced at the end of the article. Give place of publication and the publisher. Titles of books, articles and journals should be given in full. References will normally match one of the following patterns:

Adam, J.-M. (1999). Linguistique textuelle: des genres de discours aux textes. Paris: Nathan.

Balibar-Mrabti, A. (ed.) (1997). La Synonymie. = Langue française 128. Paris: Larousse.

Baroni, M. and Evert, S. (2014). The zipfR package for lexical statistics: A tutorial introduction. URL: http://zipfr.r-forge.r-project.org/materials/zipfr-tutorial.pdf, retrieved 19 April 2018.

Base de Français Médiéval (BFM). Lyon : ENS de Lyon. URL: http://txm.ish-lyon.cnrs.fr/bfm, retrieved 19 April 2018.

Basset, P., Amelot, A., Vaissière, J. and Roubeau, B. (2001). Nasal airflow in French spontaneous speech. Journal of the International Phonetic Association, 31: 87-99.

Bentolila, F. (1988). Autour du verbe. La Linguistique, 24.1: 3-141.

Bilger, M. (2001). Retour sur 'le futur' dans les corpus de français parlé. Recherches sur le français parlé, 16:177-188.

Branca-Rosoff, S., Fleury, S., Lefeuvre, F. and Pires, M. (2012). Discours sur la ville. Présentation du Corpus de Français Parlé Parisien des années 2000 (CFPP2000). URL: http://cfpp2000.univ-paris3.fr, retrieved 19 April 2018.

Brugmann, K. (1906). Grundriss der vergleichenden Grammatik der indo-germanischen Sprachen, 2nd edn, vol. 2, part 1. Leipzig: Trubner.

Johnson, K. (2000). Grammaticalization chains and French complex-inversion. In: S. N. Dworkin and D. Wanner (eds), New Approaches to Old Problems. Amsterdam: Benjamins, pp. 183-198.

Kaye, A. S. (2003). Review of: I. Fónagy, Languages Within Language. Language, 79: 652.

Weidenbusch, W. (1993). Funktionen der Präfigierung: präpositionale Elemente in der Wortbildung des Französischen. (Beiheft zur Zeitschrift für Romanische Philologie, 247). Tübingen: Niemeyer.

PROOFS
First proofs only will be sent to authors (or their nominee) who will be expected to correct and return them to the Production Editor within three days of receipt.

PUBLISHING YOUR ARTICLE AS GOLD OPEN ACCESS
You will have the option to publish your article as Gold Open Access, enabling the final published version to be made freely available under a Creative Commons license. You might be required to pay an Article Processing Charge (APC) for Gold Open Access. You may be eligible for a waiver or discount, for example if your institution is part of a Read and Publish sales agreement with Cambridge University Press. For more information about your Open Access options, please see here. For more information about the benefits of choosing to publish Open Access, see here.

Last updated 26 Jan, 2021