Notes for contributors

- 1 The Journal's policy is to acquire copyright in all contributions. There are two reasons for this:
(a) ownership of copyright by one central organization tends to ensure maximum international protection against unauthorised use; (b) it also ensures that requests by third parties to reprint or reproduce a contribution, or part of it, are handled efficiently and in accordance with a general policy that is sensitive both to any relevant changes in international copyright legislation and to the general desirability of encouraging the dissemination of knowledge.
- 2 'Moral rights' are conferred on authors by the UK Copyright Act of 1988. In the UK an author's 'right of paternity', the right to be properly credited whenever the work is published (or performed or broadcast), requires that this right is asserted in writing. Cambridge University Press is based in the UK and therefore the moral rights clause is a required element of this copyright transfer.
- 3 Notwithstanding the assignment of copyright in their contribution, all contributors retain the following non-transferable rights:
 - The right to post either their own version of their contribution as submitted to the journal (prior to revision arising from peer review and prior to editorial input by Cambridge University Press) or their own final version of their contribution as accepted for publication (subsequent to revision arising from peer review but still prior to editorial input by the International Neuropsychological Society and Cambridge University Press) on their personal or departmental web page, or in the Institutional Repository of the institution in which they worked at the time the paper was first submitted, or (for appropriate journals) in PubMedCentral or UK PubMedCentral, provided the posting is accompanied by a prominent statement that the paper has been accepted for publication and will appear in a revised form, subsequent to peer review and/or editorial input by the International Neuropsychological Society and Cambridge University Press, in the Journal of International Neuropsychological Society, published by the International Neuropsychological Society and Cambridge University Press, together with a copyright notice in the name of the copyright holder (International Neuropsychological Society). On publication the full bibliographical details of the paper (volume: issue number (date), page numbers) must be inserted after the journal title, along with a link to the Cambridge website address for the journal. Inclusion of this version of the paper in Institutional Repositories outside of the institution in which the contributor worked at the time the paper was first submitted will be subject to the additional permission of Cambridge University Press (not to be unreasonably withheld).
 - The right to post the definitive version of the contribution as published at Cambridge Journals Online (in PDF or HTML form) on their personal or departmental web page, no sooner than upon its appearance at Cambridge Journals Online, subject to file availability and provided the posting includes a prominent statement of the full bibliographical details, a copyright notice in the name of the copyright holder (International Neuropsychological Society), and a link to the online edition of the journal at Cambridge Journals Online.
 - The right to post the definitive version of the contribution as published at Cambridge Journals Online (in PDF or HTML form) in the Institutional Repository of the institution in which they worked at the time the paper was first submitted, or (for appropriate journals) in PubMedCentral or UK PubMedCentral, no sooner than one year after first publication of the paper in the journal, subject to file availability and provided the posting includes a prominent statement of the full bibliographical details, a copyright notice in the name of the copyright holder (International Neuropsychological Society), and a link to the online edition of the journal at Cambridge Journals Online. Inclusion of this definitive version after one year in Institutional Repositories outside of the institution in which the contributor worked at the time the paper was first submitted will be subject to the additional permission of Cambridge University Press (not to be unreasonably withheld).
 - The right to post an abstract of the contribution (for appropriate journals) on the Social Science Research Network (SSRN), provided the abstract is accompanied by a prominent statement that the full contribution appears in the Journal of the International Neuropsychological Society published by the International Neuropsychological Society and Cambridge University Press, together with full bibliographical details, a copyright notice in the name of the journal's copyright holder (International Neuropsychological Society), and a link to the online edition of the journal at Cambridge Journals Online.
 - The right to make hard copies of the contribution or an adapted version for their own purposes, including the right to make multiple copies for course use by their students, provided no sale is involved.
 - The right to reproduce the paper or an adapted version of it in any volume of which they are editor or author. Permission will automatically be given to the publisher of such a volume, subject to normal acknowledgement.
- 4 Cambridge University Press co-operates in various licensing schemes that allow material to be photocopied within agreed restraints (e.g. the CCC in the USA and the CLA in the UK). Any proceeds received from such licenses, together with any proceeds from sales of subsidiary rights in the Journal, directly support its continuing publication.

- 5 It is understood that in some cases copyright will be held by the contributor's employer. If so, Cambridge University Press requires non-exclusive permission to deal with requests from third parties.
- 6 Permission to include material not in your copyright
If your contribution includes textual or illustrative material not in your copyright and not covered by fair use / fair dealing, permission must be obtained from the relevant copyright owner (usually the publisher or via the publisher) for the non-exclusive right to reproduce the material worldwide in all forms and media, including electronic publication. The relevant permission correspondence should be attached to this form.
- 7 The cost of color publication of illustrations in the print format of the Journal may be charged, by prior agreement, to you. There will be no additional charge for color reproduction in electronic format.
- 8 Cambridge University Press shall provide the first named author with a final PDF file of their article, as agreed with the International Neuropsychological Society.

If you are in doubt about whether or not permission is required to reuse this contribution, please consult the Permissions Controller, Cambridge University Press, 32 Avenue of the Americas, New York, New York 10013-2473 USA

Terms and Conditions for authors to the Journal of the International Neuropsychological Society, 'the Journal' published by Cambridge University Press.

By completing, signing and returning the Open Access form (Form OA.12.2) you have agreed to abide by the following Terms and Conditions. Please retain this document for future reference.

A. The Journal's policy is to acquire copyright in all articles. There are two reasons for this:

(a) ownership of copyright by one central organisation tends to ensure maximum international protection against unauthorised use; (b) it also ensures that requests by third parties to reprint or reproduce an article, or part of it, are handled efficiently and in accordance with a general policy that is sensitive both to any relevant changes in international copyright legislation and to the general desirability of encouraging the dissemination of knowledge.

B. Two 'moral rights' were conferred on authors by the UK Copyright Act in 1988. In the UK an author's 'right of paternity', the right to be properly credited whenever the work is published (or performed or broadcast), requires that this right is asserted in writing.

C. It is understood that in some cases copyright will be held by the author's employer. If so, Cambridge University Press requires exclusive permission to deal with requests from third parties.

D. Permission to include material not in your copyright. If your article, including any supplementary materials, includes textual or illustrative material not in your copyright and not covered by fair use / fair dealing, permission must be obtained from the relevant copyright owner (usually the publisher or via the publisher) for the non-exclusive right to reproduce the material worldwide in all forms and media, including electronic publication. Please note that illustrative material (such as photographs/drawings) are not included in fair use/fair dealing provisions, even if acknowledged, and permission should be sought for their use in your article. The relevant permission correspondence should be attached to your copyright transfer form.

E. Cambridge University Press acts in accordance with the UK Bribery Act 2010 and the Data Protection Act 1998. Please refer to the Press's relevant policies, (<http://www.cambridge.org/policy/privacy/>), (http://www.cambridge.org/policy/abc_policy/) which may be revised from time to time.

Re-use of your article.

Notwithstanding the assignment of copyright in your article, you retain the following non-transferable rights, (subject to appropriate permission having been cleared for any third-party material):

Definitions²:

Author's Original (AO), Any version of the article that is considered by you to be of sufficient quality to be submitted for formal peer review by a second party. You accept full responsibility for the article. Content and layout as set out by you.

Submitted Manuscript Under Review (SMUR), Any version of the article that is under formal review managed by Cambridge University Press (or the Society that owns the Journal). Cambridge University Press (or the Society that owns the Journal) recognizes its responsibility to provide objective expert review and feedback to you, and, ultimately, to pass judgment on the fitness of the article for publication with an "accept" or "reject" decision. Content and layout follow Cambridge University Press's submission requirements.

Accepted Manuscript (AM), The version of the article that has been accepted for publication in the Journal. Cambridge University Press takes permanent responsibility for the article. Content and layout follow Cambridge University Press's submission requirements. This version may have been revised following peer review but may be subject to further editorial input by Cambridge University Press.

Version of Record (VoR), A fixed version of the article that has been made available by Cambridge University Press (or the Society that owns the Journal) by formally and exclusively declaring the article "published". This includes any "early release" article that is formally identified as being published even before the compilation of a volume issue and assignment of associated metadata, as long as it is citable via some permanent identifier(s).

² adapted from NISO RP-8-2008, Copyright © 2008 by the National Information Standards Organization
Form OA.12.1 and Doc.OA.T&C.13.1

This does not include any “early release” article that has not yet been “fixed” by processes that are still to be applied, such as copy-editing, proof corrections, layout, and typesetting. The VoR includes any corrected or enhanced VoR.

Open Access Publication

1.1. In consideration of payment of the Open Access fee specified by Cambridge University Press, the contribution will be published in the Journal within an Open Access environment, freely accessible to those who wish to browse, read, print, save, copy, display or further disseminate the contribution including the posting of the contribution on a free website or in an institutional repository, or to alter, transform or build up the contribution to create a derivative work, provided all such uses include an attribution of the contribution to its author with full details of its title and place of original publication including copyright line, and a link to the URL of Cambridge University Press’s website for the journal of original publication. Cambridge University Press will license such uses under the following Creative Commons licence: Attribution currently available at <<http://creativecommons.org/licenses/by/3.0/>>. If you choose an alternative Creative Commons licence (see order form), your article will be published under those terms:

Attribution -NonCommercial-ShareAlike <<http://creativecommons.org/licenses/by-nc-sa/3.0/>> or

Attribution-NonCommercial-NoDerivatives <<http://creativecommons.org/licenses/by-nc-nd/3.0/>>

1.2. You retain the right to re-use the contribution or an adapted version of it in any volume of which you are editor or author, whether or not for commercial gain, and permission will automatically be given to the publisher of such a volume subject to normal acknowledgement.

1.3. For the absence of doubt, prohibited uses will include:

- Reproduction of the contribution in a potentially defamatory context or any other context which may reasonably be deemed inappropriate to the reproduction of a scholarly article bearing the imprint of a respectable academic publisher.

- Reproduction in any context which breaches the Author’s right of paternity under the UK Copyrights Designs and Patents Act (1988).

SSRN and other commercial networks

2.1. You may post a copy of the full article (either AM or VoR versions) (for appropriate journals) on the Social Science Research Network (SSRN) or other such commercial networks, provided the article is accompanied by a prominent statement that the full article appears in/ shall appear in/ has been submitted to the Journal of the International Neuropsychological Society published by Cambridge University Press, together with full bibliographical details, a copyright notice in the name of the journal’s copyright holder (Cambridge University Press or the sponsoring Society, as appropriate), and a link to the online edition of the journal at Cambridge Journals Online.

If your reuse is not covered by the above, and you are based outside of the US please consult the Permissions Manager; email: lnicol@cambridge.org. If you are based in the US please consult the Rights and Permissions Manager; email manderson@cambridge.org. If you are based in Australia please consult the Assistant to the Director; kljahovic@cambridge.org.
