

Licence to publish in Compositio Mathematica

Please read the terms of this licence and then complete, sign and return this form as soon as possible as a Scanned Email Attachment to 'compmath@lms.ac.uk'.

Compositio Mathematica

Manuscript ID: _____
(number) (surname)

Title of the Contribution: _____

Corresponding Author's

Name _____ Current Institution _____

Name(s) and Current Institution(s) of any co-authors:

1. COPYRIGHT HOLDER

Please indicate who is the copyright holder by ticking only one of these boxes. Please read the guidance notes at the end of this form if you are unsure.

- ☐ The Author(s) ☐ The Author(s)' Employer (who is not one of the governments below)
☐ The US Government ☐ The Government of UK or a British Commonwealth member state

The copyright holder is hereafter known as 'the Licensor'.

2. OPEN ACCESS

As Corresponding Author you may be entitled to publish Open Access free of charge via an agreement between your Current Institution (as stated above) and Cambridge University Press. Please check your eligibility at <https://www.cambridge.org/core/services/open-access-policies/waivers-discounts>.

- ☐ Tick this box if you are eligible and the authors wish to publish the article Open Access free of charge.
☐ Tick this box if you are not eligible, but have the funds to pay a charge (the APC) to have the article published Open Access. In this case you will be contacted by Cambridge University Press with directions how to pay.

If neither of the boxes in this section 2 are ticked, then the article will be published with standard subscription-only access.

3. OPEN ACCESS LICENCE

If you ticked one of the two boxes in Clause 2, please check whether your funder requires you to publish Open Access with a specific Open Access licence, and then select one of the following two licences:

- ☐ Creative Commons Attribution License (CC-BY) ☐ Creative Commons Attribution Non-Commercial License (CC-BY-NC)

For more information about these licences, see

<https://www.cambridge.org/core/services/open-access-policies/open-access-resources/creative-commons-licenses>.

4. The Licensor grants, in consideration of the publication in Compositio Mathematica of the Contribution, to the Foundation Compositio Mathematica for the full term of copyright in the Contribution the exclusive licence, subject to Clause 5 below,

- (a) to publish, reproduce, display, store and distribute the Contribution or extracts therefrom in all formats and media (including without limitation print, digital and electronic media) and in all languages throughout the world and to create an abstract and/or summary of the Contribution;
(b) to license others (including without limitation Cambridge University Press) to publish, display, reproduce, store and distribute the Contribution or extracts therefrom in all forms and media and in any language and to create an abstract and/or summary of the Contribution, such right to include the licensing of reprographic rights organisations ('RROs'), such as the Copyright Licensing Agency, UK, the Copyright Clearance Centre, USA, and the Copyright Agency Limited, Australia, to authorise the reproduction of the Contribution under the general terms and conditions agreed with the relevant RRO. (Licensees, other than RROs, wishing to use the Contribution as a whole will also be required to obtain the prior approval of the Licensor.)

5. Copyright in the Contribution is retained by the Licensor who reserves the following non-exclusive, non-transferable rights in the Contribution, subject to acknowledgement of its publication in the Journal: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>(a) the right to (continue to) display and distribute a preprint of the Contribution, up to the version accepted for publication ('AM'), on the Author(s)/Licensor's personal or institutional web page or in an electronic archive, provided that also a journal reference is given to the published version (including a DOI or published page numbers, or 'to appear') and that a statement is made that the two versions are different;</li> <li>(b) the right to make printed or secure electronic copies of the Contribution or an adapted version or extracts therefrom for the Author(s)/Licensor's own purposes, including the right to make multiple hard copies or to store in secure electronic reserve for course use by their own students, provided no sale is involved;</li> <li>(c) the right to reproduce the Contribution or an adapted version or extracts therefrom in any work of which the Author(s)/Licensor are the editor or author. Permission will be given to the publisher of such a work subject to an application being made to the Publications Department at the London Mathematical Society via the email address compmath@lms.ac.uk.</li> </ul>
6. The Licensor hereby authorises the Foundation Compositio Mathematica at its sole expense to take such steps in the Licensor/Author(s)' names as it considers necessary in the event that copyright in the Contribution is infringed by a third party.
7. The Author(s) hereby <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>(a) assert their moral rights in accordance with the UK Copyright Designs and Patents Act 1988;</li> <li>(b) warrant and represent that they are the sole Author(s) of the Contribution, that nothing in the Contribution is defamatory, violates any right of privacy, infringes any intellectual property rights, or is otherwise unlawful;</li> <li>(c) warrant that there is no conflict of interest arising from any of the Authors' work on the Contribution or that may unduly influence the content of the Contribution;</li> <li>(d) warrant that all necessary permissions have been obtained from the copyright owners for any material included in the Contribution in which they do not hold copyright. (The relevant permissions correspondence must be attached to this form.)</li> </ul>
8. This Licence to Publish is governed by the laws of England and Wales.

Agreement to terms

Note that both the Licensor and the Author must sign below (meaning that the Author may have to sign twice; see Clause 1 above.)

Licensor

The Licensor or its authorised representative hereby asserts the Licensor's identity as the Copyright Holder in the Contribution and agrees to the terms and conditions of this Licence to Publish.

Licensor name: _____

Representative: _____

Date _____

Signature: _____

Author

The undersigned Author hereby warrants that all Authors of the Contribution agree to the terms and conditions of this Licence to Publish and that the undersigned Author is authorised to sign this agreement on behalf of all the Authors.

Author name: _____

Date: _____

Signature: _____

GUIDANCE NOTES (You do not need to return this page with the completed form)

1. Copyright holder

- Tick “The Author(s)” if your employer(s) have not claimed copyright in your work.
- Tick “The Author(s)’ Employer” only if an author’s employer has formally claimed copyright in the Contribution and the employer is not a US, UK or British Commonwealth government.
- Tick “The US Government” only if the Contribution was written during the course of an author’s direct employment by the US Government. In this case there is no copyright protection within the US but copyright is protected elsewhere with the US Government recognised as the copyright holder.
- Tick “The government of UK or a British Commonwealth member state” only if the Contribution was written during the course of an author’s direct employment by such a government. In this case the Contribution is protected by Crown Copyright.