FIGURES, MAPS AND TABLES

FIGURES

1.1 The Sherpur shrine of Laldas or Khan at Sherpur Village, Ramgarh, Alwar 3
1.2 The new temple of Laldas at Punahana 5
1.3 A kabra in the Laldas shrine at Sherpur 6
1.4 The spread of Meo population in the late nineteenth century 16
2.1 Laldas in interaction with the Mughal prince Dara Shukoh 44
2.2 The Laldas temple in Saharanpur 45
2.3 A typeset version of the biographical text of Laldas, nuktāvalī 48
2.4 The abandoned Mecca mosque 53
2.5 The meditation place of Laldas on the Aravalli Hills 57
2.6 A mosque attached to the place of Laldas’s meditation 57
2.7 Laldas surrounded by cows 59
2.8 The current Muslim sādh performing ārtī at the Sherpur shrine 64
2.9 White sheets offered to Laldas (top right), a visitor carrying sheets (top right) and a sayyed’s tomb with the green sheet (lower left and right) 65
3.1 A side view of the Sherpur shrine 76
3.2 The decommissioned mosque at the Laldas shrine 77
3.3 The Dholidoob shrine of Laldas, Alwar 80
3.4 A news report about the dispute, 1946, by the Dawn 82
3.5 The deity Laldas in an anthropomorphic form for darśan 100
4.1 One of the new temples of Laldas
4.2 Various temple idols of Laldas with turbans
4.3 Newly published booklets and pamphlets about Laldas
4.4 The sajrā (family lineage) of Laldas
4.5 The graves of Laldas (top left) and those of his sons, parents and wives (clockwise)
4.6 The kaccā houses of the traditional Muslim sādhhs
4.7 Invitation for a jāgran by a temple committee
5.1 Laldas temple in the premises of the Arya Samaj in Punahana
5.2 The temple of Jaharpir
5.3 Goddess Durga’s temple
5.4 The tomb of Shah Chokha
6.1 From right to left: Fatima, Fatima’s husband, and Rabiya and her children
7.1 A Bhapang
7.2 The newspaper cutting of Farookh’s interview

MAPS

1 The map of administrative blocks in Alwar with adjoining regions, Bharatpur and Nuh
2 The district of Nuh (Mewat) of Haryana
3 The traditional shrines of Laldas and other field sites

TABLE

1.1 Meo population of Alwar: Selected nizāmats (districts) (1931)